WORLD JEWRY OFFENDED AT BRITISH STAND ON PALESTINE

Dr. Chaim Weizmann, Zionist Leader, Resigns in Protest Against New Statement of Policy as to Land and Immigration.

GOVERNMENT "NOT MOVED BY THREATS"

Declares Object Is Promotion of Interests of Inhabitants, Both Jews and Arabs—Sir John Simpson's Recommendations.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 21.—Asserting that the British Government by its attitude on Palestine had broken faith with the Jews who gave their lives and money during the war, Lord Melchett, noted British industrialist and leader of British Jewry, resigned his chairmanship of two committees of the Jewish Agency today.

By ARTHUR E. MANN, A London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The British Government has issued a new declaration of policy regarding the administration of the Palestine mandate—a declaration which Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency and the Zionist Organization, declares to be in conflict with the previous policy of the government.

The Government declaration states that its policy follows closely the policies expressed in four previous declarations on the administration of Palestine.

Dr. Weizmann takes violent exception to this statement, holding that the present Government declaration will restrict Jewish immigration and check purchases of lands from the Arabs for settlement by Jews, thus interfering with the whole plan for establishment of a Jewish national home.

As a result of the declaration, Weizmann yesterday sent a letter of protest to Colonial Secretary Lord Passfield (the former Sidney Webb), in which he stated that he is resigning his position as president of the Jewish Agency and the Zionist Organization.

The British statement of policy is a three-fold declaration, covering first, the national governmental or administrative question, and second, the land question, and third, the immigration question. The statement concludes that the policy is based on the Government's declaration of 1922, when Winston Churchill was Colonial Secretary—a declaration which Weizmann accepted on behalf of the Zionists—and upon the terms of the League of Nations mandate.

It is essential at the outset," the declaration states, "that his Majesty's Government should make it clear that they will not be moved by any pressure or threats from the Jewish community in the mandate and from pursuit of a policy which aims at promoting the interests of the Jewish community in Palestine, consistent with the obligations which the mandate imposes."

As regards the political phase of the declaration, the Government announces it intends to act in accordance with the lines laid down in the 1922 statement of policy. It will consist of a high commissioner in Palestine and 22 members, of whom 10 will be officially appointed members and 12 unofficial members.

The Government declaration also

QUO WARRANTO WRIT ISSUED AGAINST BRUNK

Ousted State Treasurer Called Into Court to Give Defense Within 30 Days.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 21.—The State Supreme Court today issued a writ of quo warranto against Larry Brunk, suspended State Treasurer, ordering him to show cause, within 30 days, why he should not be removed from office.

Charges of official irregularities were made against him in an ouster suit filed yesterday at the order of Gov. Campbell.

When Brunk's answer is filed, within the 30-day period, steps may be taken to expedite the case. Brunk stated yesterday, after the filing of the ouster proceeding by Attorney-General Sharlet, that he would direct his lawyers to ask that the case be advanced on the court's docket, for an early hearing.

The Attorney-General said he would approve of an early setting, which might make it possible to handle the case in the October-November term of court instead of waiting to the January term or later.

When Brunk's answer is filed, the Court probably will name a special commissioner to take testimony, and possibly also report a finding in the case.

After receiving the report of the commissioner, the Court would set the case for argument. The ouster suit petition charges that Brunk made false reports to the Governor, failing to show that the Bank of Aurora, in Brunk's home town, had withheld $4903 of interest due the State on deposits of state funds.

At the time when it was closed last June, Brunk was owing the bank $22,000. The suit further alleges that the Bank of Aurora placed $2950 in the so-called "Brunk rent account," and that $2700 of the amount was "wrongfully applied by him (Brunk), or caused by him to be applied, to the discharge or partial discharge of obligations owing by him to the bank and others."

Brunk has not announced whether he will attack the statute on which the Governor acted in suspending him and ordering the ouster suit. This statute, Section 13,337, is held by some lawyers to conflict with the Constitution, which provides that elected State officers shall be removable through impeachment by the Legislature.

Brunk said, however, that he wished the case to be heard on its merits.

PAROLED CONVICT WHO SHOT FARMER ARRESTED IN CITY

H. P. Wyman of Peoria Says He Mistook Joseph Troeckler of Mitchell, Ill., for Holdup Man.

BULLET-MARKED CAR LEADS TO CAPTURE

Landowner Wounded When Revolver in Hand, He Approached Parked Auto of Tourists.

A farmer who attempted to order three tourists out of a private road leading to his home, a mile north of Mitchell, Ill., last night, was shot and seriously wounded by one of them, who said he thought the farmer, with revolver in hand, was a holdup man.

The farmer, Joseph Troeckler, a member of the Mitchell School Board, is in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Granite City, where physicians say he has an even chance for recovery. His assailant, Herbert P. Wyman, of Peoria, Ill., a paroled convict, is held at St. Louis Police Headquarters and has confessed the shooting.

Wyman, his wife and James North, a friend, of Peoria, were arrested at the Savoy Hotel, 2942 Olive street, by detectives who noticed their bullet-marked sedan parked behind the hotel. They said they had been fired on by strangers near Granite City but denied having fired any shots themselves, until re-questioned this morning. Wyman made a full statement of what happened.

"We had just driven into the road for a minute," he said, "en route to St. Louis from Peoria. We passed a parked car with two men in it, and I saw a man getting out of the car behind us. I could see he had a revolver in his hand. He came up and grabbed the door handle. I held it from the inside and he pulled from the outside."

"I didn't know whether he was a robber or a kidnaper or what. I had my wife to protect and I did not want to start a shooting right there. I reached over into the back seat and got my automatic pistol, and let him have it right through the window. Then I said to North, 'Come on, let's get out of here before we're killed.'"

"The other car had the road blocked. North drove out into a field, around a haystack, back to the road, and we beat it for St. Louis. The man I shot at fired several times as we, hitting the car. Crossing a bridge, I heaved the pistol out into the river. The pistol had about 8 shells in it. I fired the last shell, but I don't remember whether I fired all before we turned around or not. I was excited."

Willing to Return. Informed of the identity of the man he had wounded, Wyman said, "I'm sorry. If there's any blame, I'll stand it, but I didn't know anything else to do but what I did." Wyman said he would return to Mitchell without bail.

His account of the shooting tallied with that of Troeckler and the latter's companion, Henry Menching, a neighboring farmer and also a member of the Mitchell School Board, who said he saw the shooting. Menching said several shots were fired at his automobile after the Wyman car had been turned around and headed out of the private road.

Troeckler, 32 years old and married, formerly held an official position entitling him to carry firearms, but is not an official now. He was discussing school board affairs with Menching when Wyman's car passed and stopped. Troeckler told Granite City police.

He Goes to Investigate. Troeckler alighted from Menching's car, taking a revolver and a flashlight, and said, "I'm going to see who they are and what they want." He asked his question as he approached the sedan, he said, and instead of replying, Wyman shot him. Troeckler, on the ground, emptied his revolver at his assailant.

Wyman, 29-year-old automobile mechanic, was en route to St. Louis to look for work, he said. He told police he was convicted of larceny and receiving stolen property, and served 38 months of a 1-to-10-year sentence, receiving a parole last November. He lives, he said, at 117 First avenue, Peoria, while North's home address was given as 719 Monson avenue, Peoria. Troeckler's father, Frank, formerly was treasurer of Madison County.

TITLED LABORER MARRIES WEALTHY BOSTON WIDOW

Sir John Fagge Is Returning From England to America With His Bride.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 21.—The marriage of Sir John Fagge, Massachusetts auctioneer and day laborer, to Mrs. Florence Murdock of Boston, widow of the wealthy patent food manufacturer, was disclosed here today by a relative, Noel Goss.

The wedding of the American widow and the 61-year-old laborer, who found when he reached England that his baronetcy brought no funds with it, took place secretly at a church in Stamford, Wednesday.

They were neither relatives nor friends present and after a brief visit to Stoke-on-Trent to see relatives and announce their marriage the bride and bridegroom sailed for America.

Sir John met Mrs. Murdock on a liner on the way to Europe. Before her marriage to Murdock she was Florence Goss, daughter of the late W. H. Goss, founder of the Goss China Works.

USE OF ALCOHOL IN GERMANY DROPS 50 PER CENT IN YEAR

Government Monopoly Reports Deficit and Large Surplus of Spirits on Hand.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The German Government's report over a 50 per cent reduction in the consumption of alcohol in Germany since last year was disclosed today by a report in the official Reichstag Sanzeiger.

The report shows that the Government's alcohol monopoly closed the year with a large deficit, leaving the Reich puzzled over what to do with the surplus spirits on hand.

The Government's balance sheets show that 356,400 hectoliters (slightly less than 84,000,000 gallons) were consumed between Oct. 1, 1929, and Sept. 30, 1930, as compared with 724,000 hectoliters in the corresponding time of the previous year.

SNOW REMOVED FROM ROADS

Clearing of Highways in East River Stranded Motorists.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The area between Buffalo and Erie, Pa., today was emerging from a week-end snowfall that buried roads to a depth of three and four feet.

The main road leading along Lake Erie to Pennsylvania has been cleared by snow plows. The clearing of highways averted the possibility of a food and milk shortage in smaller communities, and also brought relief to hundreds of motorists stranded in temporary shelters along the highways. Thousands of pheasants, however, were facing starvation throughout Western New York with grain and other food covered by snow. Appeals to help the birds have been sent out by the Izak Walton League and other agencies.

HOW E. R. HANDLAN LOST $15,000 IN PLAYING ROULETTE

Disposition Taken in Suit Against Manufacturer to Recover on Note Given at New Orleans Club.

DEFENDANT SAYS DEAL IS "ILLEGAL"

Greeter at Resort Brings Action Explaining He Purchased Obligation From Manager.

A roulette wheel in the Club Forest, night club and gambling house near New Orleans, spun for seven hours the night of Feb. 1 last, while E. R. Handlan, vice president of the Handlan-Buck Manufacturing Co., of St. Louis, ran up an "I. O. U." account for $15,000, for which he later gave his note, according to depositions filed in Circuit Court here today.

Louis B. Goldsmith, described as the club's "greeter and mixer," has sued to recover on the note which he claims he purchased from Handlan. Karger, manager of the Club Forest, innocent of the fact that it represented settlement of a gambling transaction.

Handlan said he will fight the claim on the grounds that the note represents a gambling transaction and is therefore illegal.

Race Track Recommendations. Karger's deposition related that he met Handlan a month before the eventful evening and extended him credit on the recommendation of "boys from the racetrack," and a man named "Red" Applegate, who brought Handlan to the Club Forest.

The evening of the $15,000 loss, Karger said, Handlan appeared with Mr. and Mrs. Applegate and sat for seven hours at the roulette wheel with Mrs. Applegate at his side, while Applegate amused himself without playing.

"Handlan was in about $5000 when I asked him how far he wanted to go and he said $10,000," Karger said. "When the wheel at the roulette table he had run his limit, I told him he couldn't go any further and he asked me to make it $15,000."

"He left the wheel at 3 a. m. and we went to my office, where he asked me to take his notes. He said he didn't have enough money in his checking accounts and told me to discount the note at a bank and he would take care of it when he got back to St. Louis. I sold the note to Goldsmith for $12,000, and he gave me $5000 cash and canceled a $5000 debt I owed him for commissions on some racing bets."

"Knew What He Was Doing." Karger said Handlan "knew what he was doing," and explained the method of keeping score. The player received chips from the croupier, he said, and markers were placed in a cup in front of the player so that he could tell how much he was "in" at any time. Handlan, he said, was "playing a system," using $1, $5 and $25 chips, occasionally passing a few chips to Mrs. Applegate so she could play.

Goldsmith, described by Manager Karger as "greeter and mixer," at $20 a week, testified he went to work for Karger in May and bought the note because it was a bargain. "I didn't ask whether it was a gambling transaction or not," he said. "It didn't occur to me that it was a gambling proposition."

Willie Thomas, formerly of East St. Louis, employed as "watcher" at the roulette wheel where Handlan played, gave a third deposition. He said he had watched Handlan at the wheel many evenings and recalled that the St. Louis manufacturer had won as much as $4500 in a session. "Not counting that last night, he won more than he lost," Thomas volunteered.

Thomas related that on Feb. 1 Handlan started to play with $200 in cash, lost it and ran up a credit loss of $5000. "I called Mr. Karger," Thomas said, "and Mr. Handlan pleaded with him to let him go on to $10,000."

The three depositions were taken in New Orleans last month with Ernest A. Green representing Goldsmith and James V. Frank representing Handlan. As yet Handlan has not filed an answer to the suit. He resides at the Melbourne Hotel.

Stone Is Said to Be Flawless and of Excellent Color.

By the Associated Press.
RANGOON, Burma, Oct. 21.—A ruby weighing about 100 carats has been found in Mogoke, Upper Burma.

Great secrecy is being maintained about the discovery, but it is said the stone is flawless and of excellent color. If this is the case, it will rank among the world's most priceless stones.

MAYOR MILLER TO NAME BOARD TO AID JOBLESS

Plans Also to Ask for Appropriation of $200,000 for Winter Relief.

An executive committee of representative business men to supervise municipal unemployment relief work and direct the expenditure of a proposed $200,000 fund is being planned by Mayor Miller for the coming winter.

The Mayor has asked the legal department to draft an ordinance which would appropriate $200,000 of municipal revenue to be spent in providing temporary employment at $2 a day for needy men who have lived in St. Louis for at least a year.

In addition to the employment fund, the Mayor expects that the organization will receive donations of food, clothing and fuel which it will distribute to needy families in co-operation with the organized charities. A large coal company has pledged itself to provide 300 tons of coal during the winter, the Mayor said.

The Mayor's Committee, according to his plan, will include the heads of various organizations that would be of assistance in providing employment or relief materials. He expects to name representatives of manufacturers, retailers, wholesalers, labor organizations, commission men, coal dealers, real estate dealers, as well as representatives of the city, the St. Louis Medical Association, the St. Louis Bar Association and the Police Department.

The Mayor said he was prepared to appoint a clerical force of about four city employees to keep records and handle details for the committee. He has a tentative promise of a large building for storage purposes during the winter.

NAVY'S NEW SUBMARINE V-5 DIVES 332 FEET TO SEA FLOOR

Thought to Have Broken All Depth Records, Has a Normal Unemployed Submarine at Least.

By the Associated Press.
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 21.—The Navy's new fleet submarine, V-5, was thought to have broken all depth records, for American submarines at least, today when it descended to the ocean floor in 332 feet of water. It was the V-5's first official deep sea dive, although it has made other dives during a recent trial run to South America.

Today's dive was made off the Maine coast. While on the bottom, pumps and other equipment were tested and found to function properly, officers reported when the submarine returned to the navy yard.

Aboard the V-5 were Rear Admiral William W. Phelps, commander of the Portsmouth Navy Yard, and seven officers of the industrial department who were among those responsible for her construction.

The submarine remained on the ocean floor three-quarters of an hour.

THREE MEN INJURED WHEN EXPLOSION DAMAGES AIRSHIP

Triot Thrown 40 Feet From Gondola of Capt. Heine's Family Dirigible.

By the Associated Press.
TOMS RIVER, N. J., Oct. 21.—An explosion which wrecked the gondola and motor of Capt. Anton Heinen's family air yacht, but did not injure the bag of the small dirigible, tossed three men 40 feet from the gondola to the ground today, seriously injuring them.

The ship was tied to temporary mooring mast and the motor was being started in preparation for flight.

Two of the injured were members of the crew and the third was a Tom's River youth.

Heinen, famous dirigible designer and pilot, was standing on the ground nearby but was not hurt.

Several members of the crew, however, said it was merely an accident, and that another gondola and motor would be installed and the craft put back into service immediately.

The ship was built as the first of a proposed fleet of small, easily handled dirigibles for family use. It had many successful flights since its completion several weeks ago.

BEAUTIFUL RUSSIAN WOMAN ARRESTED AS SPY BY ROMANIA

Police Chief and Army Colonel Also Held; 140 Detained, Most of Them Engineers.

By the Associated Press.
BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 21.—The authorities have arrested the police chief of the State Intelligence Department and a Colonel in the active army force in connection with disclosures regarding espionage in the interests of Russia. Police have arrested a beautiful Russian woman as implicated in the espionage plot. They may be acted as courier between Communist agents here and headquarters in Vienna.

Arrests in connection with the plot now total 140, most of them civil engineers. Some of the prisoners told police the organization had unlimited funds, the budget for 1929 amounting to $500,000.

JOB FINDER IS NAMED BY HOOVER FOR RELIEF WORK

Arthur Woods of New York, Experienced in Such Campaigns, Expected to Develop Program in Co-operation With Cabinet.

PRESIDENT FIGURES IDLE UNDER 3,500,000

Stagger System of Spreading Employment Adopted as a Major Plan by Government, Says Secretary Lamont.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Arthur Woods, former Police Commissioner of New York City, who was in charge of unemployment work on President Harding's commission in 1921, today was asked by President Hoover to take charge of the organization which is being created to relieve suffering during the winter.

The administration was said definitely today to be prepared to ask Congress to remove restrictions upon Federal public work already provided for over a period of years and to permit this work to go forward at once.

While President Hoover believes the country will be able to take care of the situation during the winter, he expects Woods to develop an extensive organization to create employment, in co-operation with the Cabinet committee which the President today called into session.

The Government's estimate of unemployment has been fixed at approximately 3,500,000, but Mr. Hoover does not believe this figure represents the actual burden upon the country.

Figures on Unemployment. The United States, it is contended, has a normal unemployed total of approximately 1,000,000, consisting mostly of those who are not seeking work or else are shifting from one job to another and are not within the income. The census also shows an average of one and three-quarters breadwinners per family, so that the total families without any source of income is placed by the Government below the actual unemployed total.

The Government has extended virtually all of its appropriations for public works, amounting to approximately $55,000,000, and is planning to ask Congress to permit greatly increased expenditures so as to give increased employment.

Woods, who also organized after the war a committee for placing veterans in jobs, is expected to come to the Capital immediately to undertake development of the relief program. He is to work with the committee of six Cabinet members and Gov. Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board.

Flood Control Work Plan. A general plan to provide work for a greater number of persons was indicated by Secretary Hurley to have been discussed at the first meeting of the Cabinet committee.

The War Department, he said, already has initiated this system in flood control work below St. Louis, increasing the number of men provided with some income, while cutting slightly the income of each.

By employing 2000 men for three days a week instead of 1000 for six days a week, a meal ticket would be provided at least for all of them," he said.

He added the department expected to spend all available money looking to employment of additional persons.

Later Secretary Lamont said the unemployment plan outlined by Hurley, and known as the stagger system, would be one of the major activities of the Government for relieving the situation.

The President, in continuing his study of business conditions, invited Andrew W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., to the White House, where he was an over-night guest. The Pittsburgh manufacturer is one of a growing list of industrial and financial leaders Mr. Hoover has called to the White House recently for such discussions.

ALTON STREET CAR COMPANY READY TO QUIT BUSINESS

L. H. Egan, Head of Union Electric, Tells Council Order to Remove Tracks Will Be Obeyed if Issued.

DOES NOT WISH A NEW FRANCHISE

City's 60-Day Ultimatum Issued as Result of Dispute Over Paving Will Expire Nov. 2.

Louis H. Egan, president of the Union Electric Light & Power Co., told the Alton City Council last night that the street car business is dying and for that reason he does not wish a new franchise for the Alton Railway Co., owned by Union Electric.

Due to the competition of the automobile, he said, he expected the Alton street car company to pass out of existence in a few years and he did not want to incur any franchise obligations which the company would be unable to fulfill. The street car company has been losing about 100,000 revenue passengers a year, he said. It carries about 2,500,000 revenue passengers a year and operates 25 passenger cars over 20 miles of track. It has no bus competition.

For several months the Alton Council has been trying to have the street car company pay for that part of the proposed new paving on Broadway which it would have been required to pave under its old franchise. When Union Electric purchased the property in 1925 at a receiver's sale, it expressly refused to accept the franchise of the old company and has since been operating by sufferance.

60-Day Ultimatum. Recently the Council notified the company that if it did not apply for a new franchise within 60 days steps would be taken to force it to remove its tracks. The 60 days' period will expire Nov. 2.

Egan told the Council that the company will comply with the city's order to remove its tracks, if such is served upon it, but that it will give the city plenty of time to arrange for another form of transportation.

Members of the council urged further consideration of the matter by Egan and suggested the city would be willing to grant a franchise which might be canceled whenever the company found it impossible to operate profitably under it. They also said the cost of paving was not as much as Egan had thought. The estimate was $16,000; Egan's was $26,000.

Dividends Despite Decline. Egan told them that the company had paid dividends regularly on its common stock, despite its loss of riders, the amount in 1929 having been 5.9 per cent. He said, however, that an additional expense such as that proposed for paving would make it impossible for the company to earn reasonable dividends. The company's outstanding capitalization is $750,000 of common stock, all of which, except directors' holding shares, is owned by the Union Electric.

It was agreed that another conference would be held at a date not named.

UNWRITTEN LAW PLEA UPHOLD. St. Joseph (La.) Grand Jury refuses to indict Mayor for Killing. By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, La., Oct. 21.—A Tensas Parish grand jury yesterday refused to indict Mayor A. B. Ratcliff for killing Dr. C. W. Melton, retired physician of Newellton here Saturday. Ratcliff pleaded the unwritten law. He shot down Melton, a wealthy lumberman, on a crowded street.

Ratcliff has been separated from his wife for several months. The Sheriff took the Mayor in his home as his guest instead of to jail and released him on his own recognizance pending the grand jury session.

WORLD JEWRY IS OFFENDED AT BRITISH STAND ON PALESTINE

announces the intention of keeping in Palestine for the present two battalions of infantry, and, in addition, two squadrons of aircraft and four sections of armored cars will be available in Palestine and Transjordan. It also indicates further strengthening of the Palestine police force.

This statement of security measures also accepted without comment by the Zionists. But then follow the pronouncements on land and immigration policies to which they take exception.

Situation as to Arabs. "It can now definitely be stated," says the declaration, "that at the present time and with the present methods of Arab cultivation, there remains now no land available for agricultural settlement by new immigrants with the exception of such undeveloped land as the various Jewish agencies hold in reserve. Provision of a margin available for settlement depends upon the progress made in increasing the productivity of land already occupied."

"Jewish settlers have had every advantage that capital, science and organization could give them. To these and to the energy of the settlers themselves their remarkable progress is due. On the other hand, the Arab population, while lacking the advantages enjoyed by Jewish settlers, has, by excess of births over deaths, increased with great rapidity, while the land available for its subsistence has decreased materially. This area has passed into Jewish hands."

The Zionist impression of this declaration is that it means, for the time being at least, Government prohibition of further land purchase by Jews from Arabs—one of the demands the Palestine Arab delegation made of the British Government when it came to London last summer.

On the immigrant question the Government declaration indicates that a new policy considerably restricting Jewish immigration into Palestine will be followed and that the Government itself from now on will exercise greater control over immigration and leave less authority to the Jewish agency in immigration matters than heretofore.

"It is the duty of the administration under the mandate," it says, "to insure that the position of other sections of the population is not prejudiced by Jewish immigration. Also, it is its duty under the mandate to encourage close settlement of the Jews on the land, subject always to the former condition."

"Transfers of land will be permitted only in so far as they do not interfere with the plans of the authority in charge of development. Having regard to the responsibilities of the mandatory power, it is clear that this authority must be the Palestine administration."

Hope of Home Continues. Questioned regarding the status of Zionist work in Palestine, in view of the declaration, Dr. Weismann said:

"We Jews will be very disappointed and distressed at the Government's attitude. But we won't abandon hope of establishing a Jewish national home in Palestine. The Congress and Council of the Zionist organization and the Jewish agency, when they meet, may consider it better to have the official center of Zionism in America, where there is a large Jewish community."

In a letter to Lord Passfield,

Dr. Weismann said: "The statement purports to reiterate the policy contained in the White Paper of 1922 and to follow Sir John Hope Simpson's report. In my judgment, it effects a profound change in the policy of 1922, as expressed in eight years' practice, and in some material points differs from Sir John Hope Simpson's report."

"It goes a long way toward denying the rights and sterilizing the hopes of the Jewish people in regard to a national home in Palestine as far as it is in the power of the Government to do so."

"The Council of the League of Nations at its last meeting warned the mandatory power in advance against a policy aimed at restricting the development of the Jewish national home at the present stage of development, and the view of the Council was adopted without reserve by the British representative."

Objections Elaborated. In a long statement issued to the public here, Weismann further elaborated Zionist objections, beginning with a declaration that the new policy conflicts with all previous British Government pronouncements on Palestine, with which the Government's declaration says it is in accord.

"The Jewish people in Palestine," he says, "are at present residing in Palestine. The change of outlook is fundamental and points to the deepest misunderstanding of the whole purpose and meaning of the policy of the Jewish national home. The promise of the Balfour administration and of the mandate was to the Jewish people in the Diaspora and rested the Jewish people upon their historic connection with Palestine."

The Diaspora is applied collectively to those Jews who, after the exile, were scattered through the Old World and afterward to Jewish Christians living among heathens.

"It acknowledges their right to reconstruct their national home in Palestine," he goes on. "The pledge was given to the whole Jewish people who take their place in Palestine 'by right and not by sufferance' to use the words of the White Paper of 1922."

"All this by implication disappears from the Government's new statement of policy. The White Paper of 1922 on the subject of Jewish immigration laid it down that 'immigrants should not be a burden upon the people of Palestine as a whole and that they should not deprive any section of the population of their employment.'"

"In the new statement of policy the principle of 1922 is translated into this: 'That in estimating the absorptive capacity of Palestine at any time account should be taken of Arab as well as of Jewish unemployment in determining the rate at which immigration should be permitted.'"

"In other words, Jewish immigration is to be restricted, not because it will cause unemployment, but because there is unemployment already in existence among the Arabs."

"The distinction is of great importance because the possibility of giving Jewish immigrants employment depends in large measure upon import of capital into Palestine from the Jewish people of the world."

STREET CAR TRAVEL FALLS OFF 14 PCT.

Quarter Ended Sept. 30 Shows Continued Decline—Revenue Also Drops.

The report of the St. Louis Public Service Co. to the City Comptroller for the quarter ended Sept. 30, for the purpose of the mill tax, discloses a loss of 14 per cent in number of passengers carried by street cars in the city limits as compared with the corresponding quarter of last year.

For the first nine months of this year the loss was 12 per cent as compared with the first three-quarters of 1929.

Comparative figures for fares collected are: Quarter ended Sept. 30, this year, $5,165,959; preceding quarter, $5,300,353; year ago, $5,139,288.

Nine months ended Sept. 30, this year, $15,753,331; last year, $16,424,817; decrease, $671,486.

Bus traffic is not included in these figures. The company's report to the Public Service Commission for the week ended Oct. 12 showed a decline from a year ago of 12.94 per cent in number of fares collected and 8.71 per cent in revenue, for the entire system.

Comparative figures are: Number of fares, week reported, 4,060,501; preceding week, 3,956,974; year ago, 4,683,553. Revenue, week reported, $150,432.93; preceding week, $143,520.37; year ago, $133,832.19.

ish national home. It is sent to create employment for Jewish immigrants. If it cannot serve that purpose, Jewish capital won't go to Palestine.

"In reality, 80 per cent of Jewish immigration into Palestine has throughout rested upon employment of specifically Jewish capital which would never have entered the country if it had not served the purpose of making Jewish immigration possible."

Sir John Simpson, in his report, recommends suspension of Jewish immigration to Palestine until a census is taken.

"It is not right," the Simpson report says, "if there are workmen unemployed, that Jewish workmen from foreign countries be imported to fill the existing vacant posts." Sir John thus recommends an end of immigration until a census to be taken next year is completed and various steps for colonizing, which would create need for further settlers, have been executed.

Not only does Sir John recommend complete stoppage of Jewish immigration but favors expelling settlers, who in the past were able to settle in Palestine if they found employment.

The terms on which the Jewish National Fund purchased or leased lands, Sir John says, are "objectively and stated to be radically altered." He adds that the various Jewish agencies in Palestine hold a sufficient reserve of undeveloped land to enable them to continue operations without interruption.

Sir John voices regret that part of the water necessary for irrigation is now under concession and advises that steps be taken to insure a satisfactory arrangement with the concessionaire. For land development he suggests the appointment of a commission consisting of a Briton, a Jew and an Arab. He also advises that the scientific experimental stations be co-ordinated by the Government supporting the Jewish Agency or Hebrew University stations.

The British investigator repeatedly stresses the importance of co-operation between the Jewish agency for Palestine and the Government, particularly toward achievement of close settlement.

He emphasizes that it is necessary to develop the entire country and not parts of it only, in order to make possible additional land settlement. This development will make possible, the report estimates, admission of at least 20,000 settlers from the outside after the future reorganization has taken place.

DO-X EXPECTED TO START FIRST LONG TRIP ON WEEKEND

Largest Heavier-Than-Air Plane to Fly to Lisbon, Where It Will Hop for U. S.

ALTERNHEIM, Germany, Oct. 21.—The Do-X, the world's largest heavier-than-air flying machine, is expected during the coming week to start on its first long distance flight preparatory to a voyage to America scheduled for about Nov. 6 from Lisbon.

Present plans indicate the Do-X will make the trip from Alternheim to Amsterdam without passengers because of having to fly over the mountainous black forest.

The Amsterdam Lady Hay, Karl von Weigand, Claudius Dornier and Mrs. Dornier will board the plane when it goes to Southampton, for inspection by British aviation experts.

After a day in England the Do-X will fly to Havre. Lisbon will be the next stop and the taking-off point for the trans-Atlantic voyage. Vigo will be touched on the way to Lisbon for a two-hour refueling stop.

Officers of the Do-X works emphasized that they considered the flight a point, Lisbon and not Alternheim or Amsterdam.

GAS KILLS 5 IN STALLED AUTO. Deaths Near Regina, Sask., Not Caused by Exposure. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 21.—Gas caused the death of five men found in an automobile near Regina Friday, authorities said yesterday, after an examination of the bodies. The men were found dead in an automobile stalled in a blizzard. The story of one of the survivors led to the belief that the deaths were due to cold and exhaustion.

policy in Palestine. Already Dr. Weismann, whose resignation will be regretted even by those who differ most strongly from his views, has declared that it 'denies the right and sterilizes the hopes' of the Zionists.

"Surely calm thought will modify Dr. Weismann's passionate judgment. The Government is bound by the mandate and by its own pledges both to secure establishment of a Jewish National Home and to safeguard the rights of the Arab inhabitants of Palestine."

"That is a double undertaking, and the fulfillment of one part of it must not bring with it violation of the other."

"Establishment of the Jews in Palestine cannot imply exclusion of Arabs or subordination of Arabs, and the economic circumstances of the country inevitably limit both the amount and pace of Jewish immigration. To quarrel with reality is to invite certain disaster."

Intense Interest Shown in Jerusalem in Sir John's Report. JERUSALEM, Oct. 21.—The Jewish Government's Palestine statement and the report of Sir John Hope Simpson have aroused great interest here. Special editions of the newspapers have been sold out quickly. Jews continue to besiege the newspaper offices.

SUBBURY, Mass., Oct. 21.—Samuel Shalhoub, a New York Jewry salesman, told police he had been held up and robbed of watches and jewelry valued at $25,000 by two men who cornered him after an automobile tire blow out on the Boston Post road last night.

Jewish and Arab leaders thus far have expressed no opinion.

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

(Copyright, 1930.) NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 21.

ANYBODY with any experience in public life can see that the next session of every legislative body in the country, from the Congress down, will be deluged with all kinds of proposed nostrums for preventing depression in industry and agriculture with resulting unemployment. Already business is beginning to shudder at the prospect. Instead of being able to look to government generally for encouragement and relief, it recognizes that these proposals will be a deterrent to business recovery.

At the bottom of all these measures will be found an appropriation carrying a large expenditure of public money which would result in more taxes. If business can be let alone and assured of reasonable freedom from governmental interference and increased taxes, that will do more than all kinds of legislation to relieve depression.

Local governments are justified in spending all the money necessary for direct relief of distress. But the nation and the states will only increase the difficulties by undertaking to restore confidence through legislation. It will be the part of wisdom to give business a free hand to supply its own remedies. This is no time to take counsel of the legislative visionaries.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

PINCHOT SAYS HOOVER FAVORS ENTIRE PENNSYLVANIA TICKET. Statement of Gubernatorial Candidate Conflicts With Secretary Davis Declaration. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 21.—President Hoover stands for the election of the entire Republican ticket in Pennsylvania in the Nov. 4 election, Gifford Pinchot, Republican gubernatorial candidate, declared in a radio address today.

"President Hoover has sent word by Secretary James J. Davis, one of his Cabinet officers, that he stands for and desires the election of the whole Republican ticket in Pennsylvania," Pinchot said in his election delivered over station WMBO.

"And no one who has the slightest knowledge of the country can doubt that the election of the whole Republican ticket in Pennsylvania is most necessary," Pinchot said.

Pinchot's declaration was in direct conflict with that made yesterday at Uniontown by Davis, United States senatorial nominee. Davis said: "The President has not endorsed any candidate and he cannot even endorse me, and I am a member of his Cabinet. The late President Wilson got himself in a devil of a fix in this respect several years ago."

AID TO POSTMASTER KILLS WIFE, FOUR CHILDREN, SELF. Wipes Out Family With Hammer and Knife at Washburn, Wis. By the Associated Press.

WASHBURN, Wis., Oct. 21.—A family of six was wiped out today by George Froseth, Assistant Postmaster for many years, who killed his wife and four children with a hammer and then slashed his throat in his home here.

The dead, in addition to Froseth, 60 years old, are Mrs. Froseth, 45; Nell, 10; George and William, twins, 9 and Adelaide, 5.

U. S. DRY CHIEF HERE ON TOUR OF NATION

Woodcock Advises Agents to Seek Big Violators, Use Brain Not Brawn.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, Federal director of prohibition enforcement, visited St. Louis today on a national inspection tour, telling agents assembled in this district to stop commercialized liquor traffic, to use brain and not brawn and to be courteous and gentlemanly.

Woodcock instructed the agents to pay little or no attention to casual violators of the prohibition law but to concentrate on the big violators engaged in commercial liquor trafficking.

"Use your brains," Woodcock advised, "be real investigators. Above all things, at all times be courteous and gentlemanly in conduct." Woodcock expressed confidence that the enforcement bureau would be complete public confidence if the enforcement agents would conduct themselves in accordance with the plan he outlined.

Asked about a statement attributed to him recently that the making of home brew in the home was not a violation of the prohibition law, Director Woodcock said he had never made such a statement, because home brew manufacture is illegal.

"But I am trying to direct enforcement agents against commercial violators, a much simpler proposition than watching home," Director Woodcock said, "and have instructed the agents to stop the traffic at its source, leaving the maker of brew in the home to deal with public opinion and education."

Woodcock, who was met here by George Wark, prohibition administrator for this district, which embraces Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Nebraska, was accompanied by Administrator Herbert of the Chicago district, which he will visit this afternoon.

After leaving the offices of Deputy Administrator James D. Dwyer, where he addressed the agents, Woodcock went to East St. Louis. He plans to go on to Springfield, Ill., South Bend, Ind., Indianapolis, Ind., and Chicago.

He said he desired to gain first hand knowledge of enforcement conditions in each district and to get acquainted with the personnel. Woodcock, who was a Federal District Attorney at Baltimore, Md., for eight years, began his tour on Sept. 5.

TO BE QUESTIONED IN GANG MURDER. Sought Since Killing of Fred Lingle, Gang Taken to Chicago Other Warrant.

By the Associated Press. WAKEFELD, Ill., Oct. 21.—George (Bugs) Moran, gang leader, was turned over to a vagrancy squad here on a vagrancy charge and for questioning concerning a number of killings, including that of Fred Lingle, Chicago gang member.

Moran, who once headed a syndicate that rivalled Capone's organization, was early today in a roadhouse held until Chicago police arrived and then released.

County Judge Perry L. Tamm, who presided over the hearing for a $10,000 bond, placed the gangster then with a vagrancy warrant by Judge John Lyle, County and he was started out for Chicago.

Sought Since Lingle's Murder. Moran had been sought since Lingle was slain, Police held the theory, murder was plotted by the gang, since Lingle was a friend of Capone's.

Among other crimes they wanted to ask him about the Jack Zuta murder, "torch" killing of an un girl in a cottage not far from Moran's arrest.

SUIT TO DECIDE WHO SHALL GET HOW'S $300,000

Trustees of Fund Direct Action Against Brother and Reputed Adopted Son of "Millionaire Hobo."

THEY SEEK SIMPLY TO DISCHARGE TRUST

Divorced Wife, as Guardian of Boy, 13, Has Made Claim for Property on His Behalf.

Suit to determine who is entitled to the $300,000 trust estate created for the benefit of the late James Eads How, "millionaire hobo," was filed in the Circuit Court today by Frank B. Coleman as attorney for former Judge Jesse McDonald and the St. Louis Union Trust Co., trustees.

The suit is directed against How's brother, Louis How of New York, and Holger Sorenson How, reputed to be an adopted son of James Eads How. How died at Staunton, Va., last July.

The trustees aver they are wholly impartial and disinterested as to whether either claimant is entitled to the trust estate, but they are only concerned in doing their duty devolving upon them as trustees under the will of the late Mrs. Eliza How, mother of James and Louis, who created the trust.

By the terms of Mrs. How's will, one-fourth of her property was left absolutely to James Eads How, while another fourth was put in trust for his benefit, and it is this portion which is the subject of the suit. The trust provided that James was to enjoy all of the income during his life, but upon his death the trust estate was to become the property of his heirs.

Holger How, 13 years old, lives in Los Angeles, Cal., with his mother, whose divorce became final four days before How's death. The suit of the trustees recites that Louis How has made demand for the entire trust estate, contending he is the sole heir.

At the same time the mother of Holger How has had herself appointed guardian of her son and as such made demand for the trust property, declaring Holger to be her former husband's only heir by virtue of adoption. It appears from the petition that How, in 1925, in California undertook to adopt the boy, who was a son of his wife by a previous marriage.

James Eads How was a scion of a notable St. Louis family. His maternal grandfather, James B. Eads, constructed Eads Bridge; his paternal grandfather, James How, was Mayor in ante-bellum days, and his father, James T. How, was vice president and general manager of the Washash Railroad. How himself forewore social position and devoted his life to the unemployed class. Mrs. Eliza How died 13 years ago.

WON'T PADLOCK U. S. BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The Government does not intend to padlock a piece of its property in which the Crusaders, an anti-prohibition organization, charged the liquor laws were violated.

United States Attorney Rover was asked Saturday in a letter from the Crusaders to institute padlock proceedings against a Government building where the organization said intoxicating liquor had been sold. Rover said yesterday the Treasury Department had been notified of the law violation "and the subtenants were evicted, thereby causing a complete abatement of the nuisance." There is no necessity of applying to the court for a padlock, he added.

CAUTION IN GRANTING GAS FRANCHISES URGED

Fayette, Mo., City Attorney Reports on City Distribution of Natural Gas in Kansas.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTE, Mo., Oct. 21.—In studying the natural gas situation in behalf of several Central Missouri cities from which franchises have been sought by private interests, Daniel C. Rogers, City Attorney of Fayette, has compiled some interesting information about the municipal distribution of natural gas in Kansas.

Rogers has advised the Missouri cities to proceed cautiously and not to grant franchises unless the present and future rights of the municipalities are fully protected. One point upon which Rogers so far sees no way in which the cities can protect themselves is the matter of rates. He believes any type of franchise granted now would tie the hands of the cities as to adjustment of rates which might be justified by the discovery of nearby gas fields with consequent lower cost.

Natural gas now is found in considerable quantities in some parts of Western Missouri and in view of the widespread discovery of new fields in the last few years it is not unlikely that production in this State may become important.

How the town of Tyro, Kan., with a municipal distributing system, benefited from competition among producers was learned by Rogers in the course of his investigation. The town undertakes to furnish natural gas to its citizens at cost. Until recently it had been buying gas at 25 cents a thousand cubic feet and retailing it at 50 cents, the differential of 25 cents paying operating costs and interest and depreciation on the plant investment. But, owing to the bringing in of new wells near by, the town now buys its gas at 15 cents and sells it at 25 cents.

A comprehensive statement of $2,000,000.

The town of 10,400 population has a distributing system which cost $242,000. It was built by a bond issue maturing one-tenth each year for 10 years, and so far about $100,000 of the bonds have been retired out of revenues from gas sales. The city buys gas for 20 cents a thousand cubic feet delivered at the city gate. Consumers pay a minimum monthly charge of $1, which includes 2000 cubic feet, and for additional consumption up to 100,000 cubic feet the rate is 20 cents a thousand. For the next 100,000 feet it is 25 cents, and for all in excess of 200,000 it is 20 cents.

The city of Neodesha buys for 18 cents at the city gate and sells for 35 cents. Chanute pays 15 to 25 cents and retails at 25 to 35 cents.

Howard buys at the well seven miles from town for 10 cents and retails at 30 cents. To get this low rate the city built its own pipe line to the well and furnished all metering equipment.

Iola buys at the city gate, paying 25 cents for domestic gas and 25 cents for industrial gas, and retails it at 40 cents for the first 1000 cubic feet and 55 cents a thousand for additional consumption. Garnett pays 30 cents and sells at 50 cents, and Humboldt pays 30 cents and retails at 50 cents.

In all these cases the gas is piped comparatively short distances.

5 YEARS FOR $2,000,000 FRAUD

Former Head of Defunct Denver Firm and Ailed Sentenced.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., Oct. 21.—Richard M. Crane, former president of the Denver Chamber of Commerce and head of the defunct Associated Industries Corporation, was sentenced to serve from five to six years in prison, and C. T. Flynn, former secretary of the firm, to four to five years yesterday.

They were convicted of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the failure of the firm, which the prosecution charged cost investors $2,000,000.

DENOUNCES G. O. P. CAMPAIGN LEVY ON CITY'S EMPLOYEES

Municipal Research Bureau Calls Practice "a Form of Unemployment Insurance."

"Voluntary contributions" by city employees to the Republican City Committee are termed "a form of unemployment insurance" and "a progressive income tax," in a bulletin on the subject of campaign assessments, issued by the Bureau of Municipal Research.
Such assessments, the bureau holds,
make the city's merit system "nothing more than a hollow name."

City employees are exempt from federal income tax on their salaries, but pay the State income tax.
It is the plan of the Republican City Committee to raise $15,000 to $20,000 of its campaign fund, estimated at a total of $40,000, from the employees' contributions.

"Another election is but two weeks away," the Bureau of Municipal Research says, "and there is the customary levy on the salaries of city employees. The 'contributions' which are suggested" by the collectors of political tribute, are 5 per cent of one month's salary for city employees drawing up to $150 per month and 10 per cent of a month's salary for employees getting more than this amount. This 'voluntary' progressive income tax seems to be accepted by city employees as a somewhat onerous but nevertheless necessary form of unemployment insurance, with only partial coverage.

Direct Violation of Charter.
"Direct or indirect solicitation of party assessments or contributions from any person in the classified service of the city is in direct violation of Section 12, Article xviii, of the City Charter, which says:

Any person... who shall solicit directly or indirectly any assessment or contribution for any political party from any person in the classified service shall for each such offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than 100 days or by both such fine and imprisonment.

"The classified service includes some 7500 employees. In addition there are some 1300 city employes in the unclassified service. Employees of the Police Department numbering 1200 and 400 employes of the Board of Education, are fortunately exempted from payment of political tribute.

"The fact that the civil service provisions of St. Louis, as well as those of most other large cities, prohibit the solicitation of political assessments or contributions is evidence that in the minds of the charter drafters it is a pernicious practice. It is in direct conflict with the letter and spirit of the merit system, which is that governmental employes shall be chosen and shall retain their positions on the basis of their ability to perform—not as political henchmen, but as public employes. Notwithstanding this, each new election is financed in part by city employes in the classified service.

A Levy on the Public.
"Political assessments, whether called by name or more euphonically, 'voluntary contributions,' are really a levy on the public for the support of a political party. Salaries of public employes are paid from taxation, and when an employee is 'persuaded' to make 'voluntary contributions' to the party in power, his real salary is reduced by the amount of the contribution,
which is paid by the public.

"There is inevitably a tendency on the part of the public employe to feel that his 'contribution' gives him a vested interest in his job as long as the party to which he contributes is in power. The result is that the public not only makes 'involuntary contributions' to the party in power, his real salary is reduced by the amount of the contribution,
which is paid by the public.

"How Pressure Is Applied.
"True, it is a rare occasion when a city employe is 'fired' as the direct result of his refusal to pay party tribute, but there are more subtle ways of exerting pressure upon the reluctant worker. He can be shifted to an undesirable position and fault can be found with his work. There are a hundred and one ways in which this pressure can be exerted.

"The collection of assessments or 'contributions' from civil service employes will continue to exist in St. Louis, as well as in other cities, just as long as an apathetic public opinion continues to allow national parties to fasten their hold on municipal affairs, as though there were a Republican or Democratic way of carrying on the city's business. The merit system is nothing more than a hollow name where political assessments or 'contributions' still exist."

Brand's Illness Holds On.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 21.—Foreign Minister Brand's illness, described officially as a severe cold and by medical circles as an attack of pulmonary congestion, is proving more difficult of eradication than had been expected. Brand has been confined to his apartments in the

START TO ROUND-UP 140 IN LIQUOR PLOT

U. S. Prosecutor's Aids Come to St. Louis to Begin Removal Proceedings.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A roundup of more than 140 persons charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, for trial in Chicago, was started today by Victor E. La Rue and James Easton, Assistant United States District Attorneys.

La Rue and Easton left today for St. Louis to begin removal proceedings against several defendants.
From St. Louis they will go to New York City and thence to California and several other Western states.

An indictment was returned here several months ago in which the group was charged with diversion of more than 1,000,000 gallons of alcohol throughout the United States for bootleg purposes. The Government alleges that the diversion was effected by a chemical process perfected by Anastasio Sre-ben, a Bulgarian chemist employed by the syndicate.

The indictments, returned last February, name five St. Louis men and one local concern, the Standard Laboratories Co. Individuals named are Arthur G. Mueller, president and treasurer of the laboratories;
M. H. Mueller, Ray Pohnack, David
F. Reis and Louis F. Reis.

David F. Reis, 5260 Waterman avenue, listed in the city directory then as president of the laboratories, is a Deputy United States Game Warden here. He said he organized the company in 1922 to manufacture a fuel for cigar lighters, employing alcohol under Government regulation, but sold the company in 1928 to interests which later went out of business. He said that Louis S. Reis was his brother and a minority stockholder in the company, while Ray Pohnack was a former employe with no stock in the business. Arthur G. Mueller and M. H. Mueller are not listed in the city or telephone directories.

RAILROAD UNION MEETING was issued by the four railroad brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America today to

United States and Canada to meet in Chicago, Nov. 2, to consider unemployment relief and a shorter working day.

CONCRETE LIQUOR VAT FOUND IN FOUNDATION OF SALOON
Rubber Tube Led to Bar at 2601 Park Avenue; Several Persons Arrested in Raid.
A concrete vat, containing whiskey, built into the foundation of a saloon at 2601 Park avenue, with a rubber tube leading to the bar, was found yesterday by police, who poured gasoline in the container and arrested Daniel Cheklich, proprietor.

The raid was made after police saw a man leaving a shed in the rear with an empty five-gallon can in his hand. A similar can, full of alcohol was found in the shed. The man, arrested, said he was Earl Cain, a chauffeur.
Other raids in which liquor was seized and persons arrested, as reported by police, were: 4040A East ton avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Galbreth and eight guests; coal shed, 2151 Washington avenue, Louis Thomas, a Negro; saloon, 1231 North Broadway, Angelo Licavoli; 17½ North Theresa avenue, Benjamin Kischen, Negro; cigar store, 5 North Ewing avenue, William Jennings, Negro.

Detectives chased a speeding automobile west in Carr street to Fifteenth street, where they arrested the driver, who said he was Robert Walls, a Negro, and seized four half-pints of whiskey.

$9342 Holdup in New York.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Three robbers, one with a sawed-off shot gun, held up employees and several customers in the Prudential Life Insurance Co. branch in Westchester avenue, the Bronx, today and escaped with $9342.

MOVIE HOUSES FACE SHUTDOWN FRIDAY

Musicians Reject Offer and Operators and Stagehands Are Ready to Strike.

St. Louis movie houses, with the exception of independent neighborhood theaters, may be closed indefinitely beginning next Friday unless theater owners offer a new proposal in settlement of the dispute with union musicians.

The musicians, at a meeting yesterday, rejected a proposed settlement offered to a union committee at New York last week, and union leaders announced they would call on the motion picture machine operators and stage hands employed at all the large show houses and the 22 neighborhood theaters operated by the St. Louis Amusement Co. to go on a sympathetic strike Thursday midnight.

Oscar Kleintopf, business agent for the operators, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that his organization would support the musicians. John P. Nick, international representative of the stage hands, announced previously that his men would join in the sympathetic action at the call of the musicians. Union leaders report that the theater owners have threatened to close the Ambassador, Fox, Loew's State, St. Louis and Missouri theaters indefinitely rather than meet the musicians' terms. The union men say they have information that 200 employees of an electrical manufacturing concern have been brought to St. Louis and instructed in the operation of projection machines, but this is regarded in the nature of a threat. The union men do not believe that an attempt will be made to operate with strikebreakers, and think that the owners will follow their expressed plan of closing the shows.

The dispute, as told by the musicians, involves a two weeks' notice clause, which theater owners wish to insert in the working contract with the union, in an attempt by the owners to reduce the minimum orchestra requirements, and an attempt to eliminate orchestra music at the Missouri Theater. The musicians want to sign for a year, and insist on an orchestra of at least 20 men at the Missouri.

The meeting yesterday affirmed the action of the negotiating committee, which rejected the owners' proposal last week. As a result of arrangements previously made, the operators and stagehands are now subject to a strike call by the musicians.

BEER BOAT UPSETS SKIFF

Hunter Is Thrown Into Detroit River and Drowned.
By the Associated Press.
WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 21.—One man was drowned and another almost lost his life today when a speeding beer boat rammed and overturned a skiff bearing duck hunters in the upper Detroit River opposite Riverside, Ont.

The dead man was William Blockson of Detroit. Oscar La Forest of Riverside, suffered from exposure. Blockson's body was not recovered. La Forest and Blockson in one skiff and Charles Chene of Riverside and J. Girard, East Windsor, in another, set out this morning opposite Peche Island. Girard heard a crash and cries for help. They found La Forest clinging to the overturned boat, but were unable to locate Blockson when they reached the craft, although they could hear his cries. The beer lugger, apparently returning from a trip to Peche Island, which is in Canadian water, was without lights, they said.

FORT McHENRY NOT TO BE JAIL

U. S. Abandons Proposal After Opposition Develops.
By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 21.—Attorney General William D. Mitchell yesterday informed Representative J. Charles Linthicum the Federal Government would not use the Fort McHenry property here as a jail for violators of the prohibition laws.

Following the suggestion a week ago that such a step would be taken to relieve the crowded condition in Federal prisons, protests were voiced by several patriotic organizations. Opposition to the plan was made yesterday by the Legion Auxiliary, the Federal Radio Society, now at the fort, and William C. Wood, Republican candidate for Congress.

William Z. Foster Released.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—William Z. Foster, once Communist candidate for President, and Israel Amter, who were imprisoned six months ago for participating in a Communist riot, were released today from Welfare Island. Communist headquarters announced the party will welcome its two leaders tonight in a demonstration at Madison Square Garden. Robert Minor, who was sent to jail with Foster, was released on parole a week ago to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Wife and Two Children Missing.
Warner Sabenz, 3944 North Twenty-first street, asked police to search for his wife, Mary, and their two children, Rose, 4, and Maxine, 1 years old, who have been missing since last Saturday.

YOU CAN'T BE DAINTY WITH A COLD IN THE HEAD

In a few deep breaths, Vapex banishes all the distress of colds

No woman can possibly be at her best with a cold. Her nose becomes red and stuffed, her head feels clogged, and the miserable distress ruins her good disposition.

Simply put a drop on the handkerchief or a drop at each end of the pillow. Breathe the delightful vapor and you breathe your cold away.

Swiftly Vapex clears the head, opens up the nose, dries secretions. A few deep breaths relieve distress and make you feel better. If a cold keeps you awake, use

Vapex at night and rise in the morning refreshed and soothed.

Vapex is very inexpensive. The $1 bottle contains fifty applications—an average of only 2c apiece. Millions of bottles are sold yearly. It is approved by Good Housekeeping because it is safe for every one—even little children.

For safety's sake, always ask for V-A-P-E-X—the original inhalant—and do not accept an inferior product that claims to be "just as good."

100 MEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN MINE IN GERMANY

Gas Blast Sets Off Dynamite Which in Turn Causes Gasoline on Surface to Blow Up.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The official Prussian Government press bureau announced tonight that approximately 100 men were killed in an explosion today in the Anna coal mine at Alsdorf.

Thirty-five bodies had been recovered at the time the statement was issued. There were 60 dead underground and 76 injured in a hospital.

The deaths of four of these this afternoon brought to total to 100. A director of the mining company previously had told the Associated Press over the long distance telephone that it was impossible to make a guess as to the number of dead or alive still in the shaft. He said: "We do not know whether it is 70 or 100 or even more. Difficulty confronting us in estimating the losses is that the miners could escape by three shafts."

"We do not know who escaped and who remains below. It is impossible to communicate with those still alive because telephone communication has been cut. But we are sure sufficient air is being pumped down to them and therefore believe the chances are good that most of them are alive."

It appears that there were three explosions. The first was a gas explosion underground which caused dynamite stores to blow up in one of the shafts. This in turn caused the explosion of gasoline tanks in a building on the surface.

Ten victims were buried in the wreckage spread by the blast through two levels, 1200 and 1600 feet below the surface. Among the victims were two office workers killed when buildings above ground collapsed.

The management stated that rescue progress would be slow because the main entrance to the mine had been made impassable by the explosion and that the victims must be carried to shafts of the Maria mine, several miles away, by an underground route.

Prussian Diet Rejects Dissolution. BERLIN, Oct. 21.—A joint motion of the Fascists, Nationalists and Communists for dissolution of the Prussian Diet was rejected today by a vote of 240 to 153.

DRY LAW HOPES UNREALIZED, SAYS SENATOR HAWES

Tells Democratic Meetings Promises of Betterment Made by Proponents
Have Been Unfulfilled.

United States Senator Harry B. Hawes in two speeches last night, one in Hibernian Hall, 3619 Finney avenue, and the other at 4301 South Kingshighway, discussed the "noble experiment" of prohibition from the standpoint that it had been a failure, that it had made the United States the most lawless nation in the world, and that as a result of prohibition the country was suffering morally and financially.

He asserted the adoption of the eighteenth amendment was due to a pressure from a class of "meddlesome people, who sought to legislate morals into people instead of confining legislation to crimes and principles of government."

Senator Hawes expressed the opinion that while the process of repealing the eighteenth amendment was long and complicated and offered little hope of early accomplishment, there was a growing public sentiment for repeal or amendment of the Volstead act.

"The Volstead act has not accomplished the purposes intended by the extremists who wrote it," Senator Hawes said. "It is an admitted failure. Repeated efforts have been made to increase its efficiency. Appropriations have been increased. Federal Judges have been added, penalties have been increased under the Jones act, and it was even proposed to make the purchaser equally guilty with the seller, but there public sentiment revolted, even among the ranks of the prohibitionists."

Promises Unfulfilled.
"We were promised that the Volstead act would fill our churches with worshippers, empty our jails and insane asylums, that crime would decrease, health improve, and that there would be general happiness and contentment. None of these things has happened, none of these promises has been fulfilled. Quite the contrary. There has been no increase in church attendance, the number of insane have increased, and prisons are filled to overflowing."

He asserted that "millions of American citizens" make and possess alcoholic beverages in violation of the Volstead Act, and the fact that homes which never had known liquor before the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted now were the scenes of its manufacture, had bred disrespect for the law and for law enforcement.

"The underworld in America has grown to such alarming proportions that the nations of the world are amazed at our record of crime," he said. "We find public execution of gangsters by gangsters, murder after murder, bribery and debauching of public officials, corruption of the courts in many instances, largely because the new and profitable industry of bootlegging has thrown the bootlegger into criminal contact with the thief and burglar, creating a new and prosperous class of criminals."

In the last 10 years, the Senator said, the population of the county increased 10 per cent, productively multiplied 30 per cent, and crime increased 50 per cent.

"The trouble," continued the Senator, "is fundamental. Prohibition enforcement does not make the same appeal to the public conscience as does the enforcement of laws against murder, burglary, theft, arson, kidnapping, forgery and fraud."

Local Sentiment Violated.
"Our troubles originated because we tried to impress the opinions of a county or state upon another county or state that had a different opinion. We were born with a belief in the right to control our own personal affairs with our own local officers by our own local laws in response to local sentiment."

Hawes' speeches were delivered at Democratic meetings which were addressed by candidates for local offices, and were the first of a series he will deliver in St. Louis and out in the State during the two weeks before the election.

Others who spoke at one or both meetings last night were Congressman John J. Cochran, James M. Douglas, candidate for Circuit Judge; George W. Hobbs, for License Collector; William P. Light-holder, for Recorder of Deeds, and James Conroy.

Senator Hawes announced six weeks ago that he would not be a candidate for re-election, but could retire from the Senate at the expiration of his term in March, 1931, to accept the presidency of "More Game Birds for America," a national conservation foundation for which a $10,000,000 endowment is being sought. Hawes' salary as president will be $50,000 a year.

REALTY MEN TO CAMPAIGN FOR REPEAL OF PADLOCK LAW

Detroit Board Starts Movement on Ground That Innocent Owners Suffer.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 21.—Inauguration of a campaign to align real estate boards throughout the country in a movement seeking repeal of the padlock sections of the national prohibition act was announced today by officers of the Detroit Real Estate Board.

The officers discussed the matter yesterday at a conference attended by Representative Clarence J. McLeod and by Leonard P. Reaume, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The discussion disclosed that more than 500 pieces of property have been padlocked in Detroit since September, 1929.

The real estate men attacked the provisions on the ground that innocent property owners suffer for the violations of their tenants.

Your Scalp Is Entitled to 121,630 HAIRS Does It Have Them?

If you are a blonde your scalp should have 140,000 hairs; if a red-head, 90,000 will suffice, while a brunette needs 120,000 to meet present day requirements. The average healthy head of hair should have 121,630 hairs.

Nature provides your scalp with the necessary structure to grow this quantity of hair, but you yourself must help this hair-growing structure to function properly. If you have dandruff, if your hair is falling, or if your scalp is itchy you are surely on the road to baldness.

Let Thomas help your scalp make its quota. Thomas will treat your dandruff and falling hair, thereby helping to promote hair growth on the thin and bald spots. Each day Thomas is helping more than 1,500 persons to retain or regain their normal heads of hair—and can do the same for you. Call today for a free scalp examination.

HULL AND BROCK CLEARED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 21.—The Senate Campaign Funds Committee announced last night, at the conclusion of its public hearings in Tennessee, that it had found no basis for any charges serious enough to disqualify Cordell Hull or Senator W. E. Brock, victors in this State's Democratic senatorial primary.

Chairman Nye and Senator Wagner of the committee announced simultaneously that they found "no substantial grounds for the more serious charges" preferred in connection with the conduct of the primary last August in Memphis and Shelby County. Nye departed for Omaha, saying "there is a bare possibility" that he may reopen hearings immediately into Nebraska's Republican primary.

Gerald Ryan Wins on Appeal From Police Court.

Gerald Ryan, 1430A North Fourteenth street, was acquitted of careless driving by a jury in Judge Weinbrenner's Court of Criminal Correction yesterday. He had appealed a 60-day, workhouse sentence and a $500 fine imposed in Police Court.

The prosecuting witness was Miss Dorothy Reilly, 2115 North Market street, who testified Ryan's automobile struck her at Vandeventer and Easton avenues last Nov. 12.

17 YOUTHS CONFESS

THEFT OF 40 AUTOS

In Most Cases Boys Used Cars for Joyrides Until Fuel Ran Out.

Theft of 40 automobiles since June 1, most of them in the last six weeks, Capt. Kirk of Souldard District reported, was cleared up last night and today by the arrest of 17 boys, 14 to 19 years old, on the story of two arrested yesterday at McKinley High School.

Capt. Kirk said the boys admitted "borrowing" the machines, loading their friends into them six or eight at a time and joy-riding until gasoline ran out. The machines were found abandoned on the street with tanks empty, with the exception of two, which were stripped and the parts sold to buy gasoline.

All the machines had been taken from the district bounded by Park, Geyer, Mississippi and Ohio avenues. Police searched the district for trace of the thieves until yesterday, when four special officers learned that two high school students known to have no automobile had been riding about in one.

The detectives arrested the 16-year-old boys in a classroom. Stories they told at the station implicated others, whose stories in turn named others in the group until all 17 were arrested. Police judged that a 16-year-old boy, mentioned by another as stealing the first automobile on June 1, was the leader.

Capt. Kirk said apparently no machines had been sold, but parts were sold to enable the boys to continue their fling. He said some of the boys had admitted switching license plates on the stolen automobiles to escape detection or taking licenses from other machines.

One youth was released on bond and two others over 17 years old were held at Souldard Station. The other 14, all juveniles, were taken to the House of Detention, where five of them had been found under other charges by the investigators of the automobile thefts.

WOMEN'S WET GROUP CLAIMS

7767 MEMBERS IN MISSOURI

Officer Says W. C. T. U. Has Only 7890 on Its Rolls in State.

A membership of 7767, over the six-month goal at the end of five months, was announced at a meeting of the Missouri division, Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, last night at the home of its chairman, Mrs. Ford Thompson, 4616 Pershing avenue. Mrs. Sterling Edmunds, membership chairman, remarked that published membership of the W. C. T. U. in Missouri was only 7890. She said 2572 women joined the organization for reform at the Women's Home Exposition in connection with the National Dairy Show, when the committee maintained a booth at The Arena. She added that 75 memberships a day were being obtained from 6000 cards mailed into other sections of the state and forecast a membership of 10,000 by the end of the year.

Plans for a training class for speakers, to be instructed by Sterling Edmunds and former Circuit Judge Daniel G. Taylor, were announced by Mrs. Guido Fantaleoni and Mrs. Vertrees Young, co-chairmen of the Educational Committee.

COOK ECONOMICALLY

The LACLEDE Gas Light Company

adopts the new

for the housewives of St. Louis because our own laboratory tests reveal it as the most efficient cooking appliance in America—with a new automatic TIME control.

Before adopting the new Chambers Automatic Gas Range, we determined to give it a thorough test in our own laboratories. In this test the range revealed itself to be so efficient and economical, that we immediately accepted it in order to give our customers the greatest service for the least amount of money.

One important feature of the Chambers Range to the housewife is the AUTO-STAT—the device that makes Chambers cooking automatic. It is not a thermostat. It is not merely a temperature control. It is a new device that controls both the time and temperature of the cooking process—a device that turns the gas completely off at just the exact time for the meal to finish cooking on the heat that is retained by the 2-inch thickness of insulation in the oven walls. You just set it and forget it.

You don't have to hurry home to turn off the gas. It is already off—all the way off. You don't have to worry about the food becoming unappetizing. It keeps hot and ready to serve until you arrive, whether at 6:00, 7:00 or 8:00 o'clock.

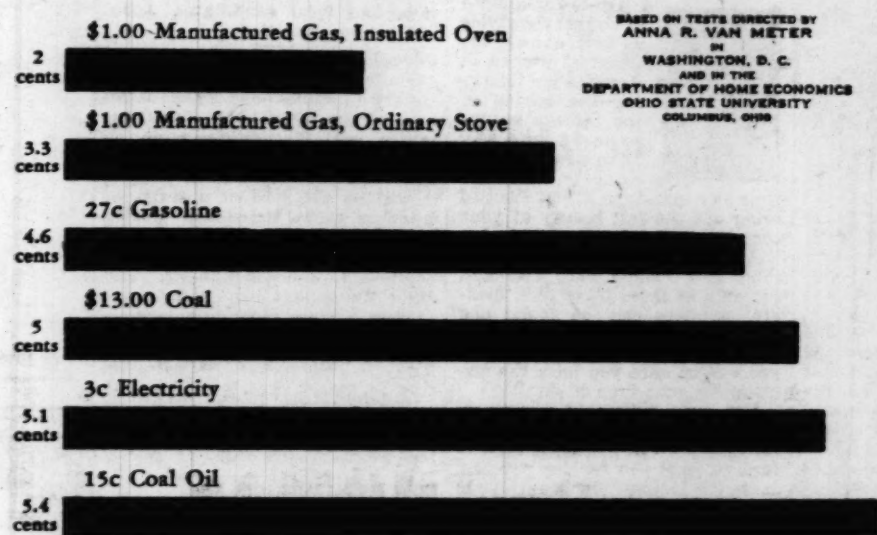

"Cooking with the gas turned off" brings about a decided saving in gas over the old method of cooking. This economy is yours not only in the Chambers oven, but in the Thermomode which is an insulated dome used in top-range cookery, where nearly 70 per cent of all cooking is done. Here you can simmer, steam, stew and boil with retained heat.

Foods cook in the Chambers Range in their own natural juices, and are thus more healthful and appetizing. And because very little water is used in the Chambers retained-heat method of cookery, food shrinkage is reduced to a minimum.

You can see this splendid new range at any Laclede store. Or, if you wish, a Chambers Cookery specialist will call at your home with complete details. Either way, you are under no obligation. You'll like this new way of cooking. So easy! So economical!

RELATIVE COST Various Fuels for Cooking Dinner

Consisting of steak, escalloped potatoes, spinach, bread, butter, rice pudding, coffee, cream, sugar, with portions for six people. The fuel costs were taken as follows: Manufactured Gas, $1.00 per "1000 cu. feet;" Coal $13.00 per ton, delivered in house; Gasoline, 27c per gallon; Coal Oil, 15c per gallon; Electricity 3c per K. W. hour. The figures in cents indicate the total fuel cost per meal for six persons.

Gas is by far the most economical fuel—and here are the facts to prove it—authoritative facts

Note that these figures are based on tests made in the Department of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and the Department of Home Economics, the Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

The above unit fuel costs are average for quality fuels.

A CHAMBERS INSULATED OVEN RANGE was the range used in the OFFICIAL TEST

Cost for cooking on the Ordinary Range was..... 65 per cent Greater Cost for cooking with Gasoline was..... 130 per cent Greater Cost for cooking with Coal was..... 150 per cent Greater Cost for cooking with Electricity was..... 155 per cent Greater Cost for cooking with Coal Oil was..... 170 per cent Greater

The thrifty housewife in her management of the home is careful to choose the most economical way of doing everything. Naturally she chooses gas as the fuel to do her cooking. She knows that gas is faster, more dependable, more economical by far than any other fuel. And no one can tell her different. She knows from experience.

You can readily see from the facts presented above that other fuels are much more costly to use than gas—oil, coal and electricity costing more than 2½ times as much as gas used in the Chambers Insulated Range.

The greatest convenience and thrift of cooking with gas is brought to you in the new Chambers Automatic Gas Range.

FREE TO EVERY WOMAN

To every woman who visits one of the Laclede stores to see the new Chambers Automatic Gas Range, a copy of the new 32-page cook book, "Automatic Cookery," will be given. Our supply of these books is limited. Make sure you get one of them by coming in early. You will not be obligated in any way by asking for your copy.

WOMAN DETECTIVE DIES; SPECIALIZED IN DRUG CASES

Mrs. Kathryn Schneider Served 14 Years on Staff of New York Police Bureau.

Social to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The only woman in the Police Department assigned to under cover work, Mrs.
Kathryn Hyde Schneider, died here yesterday.

Mrs. Schneider, then Kathryn Hyde, tiring of her job as a stenographer, obtained an appointment to the Police Department Aug. 17, 1916, during Mayor Hy-lan's administration along with 20 other women under a war measure.
Later her appointment was made permanent by act of the Legislature. She was active again drug peddlers. Her work was largely done in secret and appeared rarely except on the confidential records of the Police Department in connection with a case. Her method was to pose as an addict and turn over the evidence to Detective Moffitt and Buckley of the narcotic squad. On one occasion in a dive on West Twenty-ninth street Henry Richards, a drug seller, pointed his revolver at her, from the inside of his coat, threatening to kill her should she "dare to double cross" him. She calmly paid $10 for the drug, but did not signal Moffitt and Buckley as she had planned since she knew they did not realize the peddler was armed. She waited until he went out to the street and could be disarmed by the detectives.

She is survived by her husband, Henry F. Schneider, a detective attached to the Clinton Street station.

AUTUMN FASHIONS IN FACE POWDER FEATURE NEW IDEA

Women Praise Face Powder Made For Their Own Type of Skin

Up-to-the-minute in cosmetic styles as in clothes, the smartest women in America are following the advice of the famous beauty experts who say
"Use a face powder exactly suited to your own skin-type if you want to bring out the full beauty of your complexion!"

And this means using one of the new Plough Face Powders, for only in these three fine, modern powders can be found one powder for oily skin, one for dry skin, one for normal skin, so that you can be sure you have the one made for your type of skin!

But even with this assurance, you can hardly believe that any face powder can make such a difference until you see for yourself —see the instant new beauty your skin attains under the flattering touch of your own Plough Powder —see how coarse pores and other small blemishes seem to disappear as if by magic—see the soft, velvety finish, the glowing loveliness that you've always wanted to possess.

If your skin is oily, choose heavy texture, Plough's "Texture of Flowers" Face Powder, in the oval box—75c.
If your skin is dry, choose light texture, Plough's "Favorite Blush" Face Powder, in the square box—30c.
If your skin is normal, choose medium texture, Plough's "Tactile" Face Powder, in the round box—50c.

Each Plough Powder comes in white, flesh, pink, brunette and sun-tan tints. Each is sensibly priced wherever beauty creations are sold.

The woman who shops economically shops smartly these days! That's why so many women everywhere are using Plough's Face Powders and boasting of their superior quality and reasonable price.

One Can Be Quickly Refreshed
By Eating Something Sweet

Eating between meals is often prescribed by doctors, especially for those working at high speed in offices and stores.

Appropriate food for such "snacks" is easy to get anywhere.
The popular candy bar and the little packets of sweet cookies are outstanding examples of what is offered. Then there are the soda fountains where milk drinks and carbonated beverages can be enjoyed.

Doctors and food scientists who have given candy or sweet flavored drinks to workers have discovered that these foods restore energy quickly. Even a glass of water sweetened with sugar has proved to be invigorating. The fact that these tests have been made in the late afternoon, when vitality is low, makes the results more significant.

Refined sugar, in addition to overcoming fatigue, can help in promoting a more satisfying diet.
Those foods rich in vitamins, roughage and minerals can be much improved in flavor by adding a dash of refined sugar in cooking or when serving them. Good food

DRY LAW REAL ISSUE FOR 1932, DYER SAYS

Congressman Says Party Opposing Prohibition Will Be Successful in Election.

The people will make prohibition the "real political issue" at the next presidential election in 1932, Congressman L. C. Dyer said last night in addressing the Republican Professional and Business Women's Club following a dinner at the Annex Hotel.

"One or the other of the major parties will have the courage by that time to come out against prohibition in its present form, and the party that does that," he said,
"will win the election."

Congressman Dyer asserted that prohibition enforcement had failed and declared for modification of the Volstead act to permit manufacture of beer with a 2.75 per cent alcoholic content by weight. This, he said, would satisfy 60 per cent of the people. Such beer, he added, is not intoxicating and its manufacture and sale would be lawful.

"Modification of the Volstead act," he explained, "requires only a majority vote of Congress. The other way open is to repeal the amendment, which would require a two-thirds vote of the members of Congress and a three-fourths vote of the states."

"Our State never has, by a vote of the people, declared for prohibition. A majority is against it today. In the next election they will vote against it in the choice for both President and Senator."

Mrs. Grace Semple Burlingham, Republican National Committeewoman, presided. Other speakers included John B. Edwards, former Election Commissioner; Judge
George Hald of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, nominee for re-election, and local candidates. About 150 women attended.

Speech in Campaign Address Over Radio at 8 O'clock Tonight.
Park Commissioner Pape, chairman of the Republican City Committee, will discuss campaign issues in a radio address over Station KWK at 8:30 o'clock tonight.
It will be the first of a series of speeches to be broadcast during the campaign.

Circuit Clerk John Schmoll, nominee to succeed himself, and other Republican candidates will address a mass meeting tomorrow night at the America Masonic Temple, Gravois avenue and Bates street.

Candidates have been invited to attend a luncheon of the West End Republican Women's Club tomorrow at the Town Club.

NEW GERMAN AIRPLANE HAS 'TAIL' IN FRONT

The "Duck" Looks Like an Ordinary Monoplane Flying Backward; Makes Landing Easier.
BERLIN, Oct. 21.—German and foreign press representatives and a crowd of aviation fans flocked to Tempelhof Airport today and watched a new "backward flying" monoplane apparently chasing its tail through the clouds. Actually, it was not flying backward. It was the latest Focke-Wulf "Duck," which carries its tail where an ordinary monoplane carries its engine while its forward stabilizer pro-trudes 21 feet in front.

Flying near an ordinary monoplane, the new ship looked almost like its companion except that it seemed to be flying backward.
Only when the field at some distance did the reason for its name become apparent. With the forward stabilizer scooping the grass the plane looked for the world like a big bird with outspread wings and outstretched neck running along and scooping the grass top with its bill.
The advantages claimed for the design are that it is impossible to nose over when landing because the front wheel beneath the forward stabilizer is well in front of the center of gravity, that it is proof against tail spins and that its brakes can be applied after landing with the same abruptness as on an automobile, thus making landings on smaller fields possible.

EAST ST. LOUIS BAR INDORSES LINDLEY FOR APPEALS COURT

Qualifications of Federal Judge of Eastern District of Illinois Cited in Resolution.
The Bar Association of East St.
Louis has indorsed Federal Judge

Walter C. Lindley of the Eastern District of Illinois to succeed Judge George C. Page of Peoria, who has retired from the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, at Chicago.

The resolution sets out that Judge Lindley, who resides at Danville, has served as a District Judge with distinction and is most capable of filling the vacancy on the higher court. Copies of the resolution were sent to President Hoover, the Attorney-General and to the Senators and Congressmen from Illinois.

Judge Lindley was born in 1889
near Neoga, Cumberland County,

KILLED WHEN SPEEDING IN AUTO HE HAD BORROWED

Tony Aichunas, 22, Victim of Collision With Another Machine When Driving at 45 Miles an Hour.

PASSENGER IS CUT AND BRUISED

Man Injured Sunday When Car Struck Phone Pole
Dies—Injuries to Negro Fatal.

Tony Aichunas, 22 years old, 1442A Monroe street, was killed at 5 p. m. yesterday when a borrowed automobile he was driving collided with another machine at Twenty-second and Mullanphy streets and upset. Aichunas was crushed beneath the car.

Louis Wenciewicz, 223 Howard streets, a passenger, said Aichunas was driving at 45 miles an hour.
Wenciewicz suffered cuts and bruises. Charles Bara, 3940 Page boulevard, the other driver, escaped injury.

Aichunas borrowed the machine at 4 p. m. from Raleigh Phipps, of Madison, Ill., who is employed at a paint company at 2426 North Broadway.

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness naming Aichunas was returned today. Wenciewicz testified that Aichunas drove so fast he asked to be let out, but Aichunas assured him that he was a good driver.

Man Injured When Auto Hits Tele- phone Pole, Dies.

William Riekemann, 22 years old, a butcher, died at City Hospital yesterday of injuries suffered early Sunday when an automobile driven by his half brother, George Elbert, 4025 Loughborough avenue, struck a telephone pole at Kingshighway and Gravois avenue.
Riekemann, who also resided at the Loughborough avenue address, was thrown through the windshield, suffering internal injuries and a lacerated throat. Elbert, who suffered a fractured collar bone and head injuries, told police he lost control of the machine in making a turn when the brakes failed to hold. A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned.

Negro, 48, Dies of Injuries Suffered When Struck by Car.

Ellis Evans, 48 years old, a Negro, 1316 Wash street, died at City Hospital No. 2 yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday night when struck by an automobile, the driver of which failed to stop.
Evans was hit after alighting from a street car at Glasgow and Easton avenues, suffering fractures of the skull and left leg. Witnesses failed to obtain the license number of the machine.

Woman, 40, Injured When Hit by Machine at Parking Place.

Mrs. Lucy Reisinger, 40, of 5108 Kensington avenue, suffered a fractured skull at 6 p. m. yesterday when hit by a machine which was being backed from a parking place at 212 North Kingshighway. Clell Kenner, 1932 Burd avenue, the driver, told police he did not see Mrs. Reisinger step behind the car.
An automobile owned by Verne Lacy, yesterday, who reported it stolen, was damaged when a Negro lost control of the machine and it struck a brick wall at 2710 Lawton boulevard yesterday afternoon. The Negro, who police say is William Goldsmith, 15 North Beaumont street, was not injured. He was arrested, and declined to make a statement.

Woman's Death in Auto Crash At- tributed to Carelessness.

A Coroner's jury at Wentville today decided that the death of Mrs. Viola Myers, 31 years old, of Atton, killed Sunday in an automobile collision on Highway 61, was caused by the carelessness of her brother-in-law, Joseph Myers, who was driving the car in which she was riding.
Testimony was that Myers' machine left the concrete slab and, in turning back onto the pavement, swerved and collided with another car. Mrs. Myers was killed outright. Her husband, Hugh Myers, was seriously injured, while Joseph Myers and Mrs. Myers' two children were cut and bruised.

DOCTOR IGNORES SUBPENA, FINED $10 FOR CONTEMPT

Dr. Fred Emmert Taken From Class Room When He Was Delivering Lecture.

Dr. Fred Emmert, a physician, with offices in the Metropolitan Building, was fined $10 by Circuit Judge Brackman at Clayton yesterday for contempt in failing to answer a subpoena as a witness in a trial.

The doctor protested when a Deputy Sheriff, armed with an attachment, found him lecturing in a St. Louis University class room, but finally appeared in court shortly after noon. Asked by the Court if he had expected a fee for his testimony, Dr. Emmert answered,
"I feel I should have a fee."
Formerly a City Hospital physician, Dr. Emmert had examined a young woman who said she had been attacked.

47 LIVESTOCK MEN CITED BY U. S. FOR ALLEGED BOYCOTT

East Side Dealers, Including
41 on St. Louis Exchange, Charged With Acting Against Co-operatives.

THREATENED WITH LOSS OF LICENSES

Ordered by the Department of Agriculture to Answer to Accusations on Nov. 6.

The United States Department of Agriculture has cited 47 East Side livestock dealers, including the 41 firms which constitute the membership of the St. Louis Livestock Exchange, to appear at the East St. Louis Federal Building Nov. 6 to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked.

The Department of Agriculture order follows preliminary investigation of charges that the firms cited have boycotted two co-operatives, the Producers' Live Stock Commission Co. and the National Order Buying Co., and the long established order buying firm of Kennett, Sparks & Co., which has continued to do business with the co-operatives.

The boycott, it is charged, was started in the belief that the co-operatives were receiving support from the Federal Farm Board and working together to the disadvantage of the established commission men and order buyers. C. B. Denman, livestock member of the Farm Board, said the co-operatives had not yet received any money from the board, but that they were eligible for loans if they desired them.

Moody Denies Boycott. In ordering the hearing Secretary of Agriculture Hyde said there "was reason to believe" the firms cited had violated the packers and stockyards act. Under this act it has power to revoke the license of firms found to have violated its provisions. Criminal charges also are included in the act.

H. D. Wright, general manager of the Producers' Live Stock Commission Co., one of the co-operatives alleged to have been boycotted, said his company had made no complaint, but that he understood the National Order Buying Co., which buys livestock for small packers, had experienced difficulty in placing its orders. In some cases, he said, commission men had refused to accept them. Wallace Potts, representative of the National company in this market, could not be reached. The company's offices are in Chicago. Officers of Kennett, Sparks & Co., the other firm said to have been boycotted, are out of the city and no statement could be obtained.

The firms cited referred requests for statements to the St. Louis Live Stock Exchange, which is not a party to the action in the Government order. W. A. Moody, president of the exchange, denied knowledge of a boycott. His statement accused the Farm Board of discriminating against independent livestock farmers in favor of co-operative associations.

"These charges are the culmination of what we believe is a series of discriminations against the old established exchange methods of doing business, not only in livestock but in grain as well," said Moody.

"More Harm Than Good." "In my opinion, the Government through the Federal Farm Board and the Department of Agriculture, is not acting in a constructive way when it attempts to tear down the old established methods of conducting the livestock business at our great terminal markets. We cannot see that the demand for livestock has been helped in the slightest degree by the operation of the Farm Board. On the contrary, we believe the attempt to interfere with the established laws of supply and demand has caused much uncertainty and unrest in the trade and done more harm than good."

Several of the firms cited, which do an order buying business, are members of the St. Louis Order Buyers' Association. E. T. Cash, president of this group, placed the responsibility for conditions prevailing at National Stockyards with the Farm Board. "The charges do not state that it is the purpose of the Farm Board to eliminate the order buyer, and direct the flow of livestock through channels it controls," he said. "As a taxpayer and a citizen, I question the right of the Government to take my money and use it to put me out of business."

City-County Merger Proposal Attacked by One of Its Framers Who Opposes Creating Super-City

L. E. Walther Declares Plan Is Likely to Result in Long Litigation and May Cut St. Louis' Tax Limit.

In refusing to make a financial contribution to the Citizens' Metropolitan Committee of 1000 sponsoring the proposal for city-county federation known as proposition No. 5 on the State constitutional amendment ballot, Lambert E. Walther, a member of the legal committee which framed the amendment, has made a detailed statement of his objections to the proposal.

The statement is contained in a letter to Martin J. Collins, chairman of the St. Louis unit of the Committee of 1000, in which Walther, a former City Counselor, recalls that last spring when the form of the amendment was under consideration he advised the City and County Metropolitan Development Committee concerning what he considered impracticable features of the plan. At that time, however, he said in his letter to Collins, the Legal Committee was informed that the plan in general had been approved by the Metropolitan Development Committee and that the function of the Legal Committee was limited to passing upon the form of the proposed amendment.

Long Litigation. In his letter to Collins Walther repeated the objections he raised last spring and enumerated others. He quoted from a letter he wrote April 22 to Prof. Thomas H. Reed, the consultant who devised the plan, in which he said he "doubted the wisdom of providing for the creation of a supercity because of the great difficulties which inhere in the adjustment of the powers of such a corporation with the powers of the constituent municipalities."

He said he feared it would take years of litigation to settle these questions. He advised Prof. Reed at the time that he was not committed to the plan and reserved the right. If the views he then held were confirmed upon more mature reflection, to vote against it.

The further grounds upon which he now bases his open opposition to the amendment are set forth as follows in his letter to Collins: "The amendment does not provide for the election of a board of freeholders of delegates to a convention to frame the charter. Under the amendment a self-appointed group may prepare the charter, chosen by the voters from the established method of drafting municipal charters to be adopted by popular vote. When a charter is prepared by delegates to a convention on a board of freeholders, chosen by the voters, most of the sessions of the body are public, the press reports the discussions at these sessions, and the voter has a right to appear before the body and present his views. This opportunity is given the voters to acquire at least a general knowledge of the charter before it is submitted to them for approval or rejection, and they have the recommendation by the members of the convention or board (their own chosen representatives) to guide them. A municipal charter is necessarily a voluminous instrument, because it is the nature of a power of attorney from the State and these powers granted to the municipality by

HORSES REHEARSED FOR GREAT BRITAIN'S ROYAL PAGEANT

Draw Coach Over Route King and Queen Will Follow in Opening Parliament.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Oct. 21.—The eight blooded horses which will draw the great state coach carrying the King and Queen to the opening of Parliament next Tuesday, were rehearsed today in their part in this royal pageant.

The gilded coach, upholstered in crimson silk, its panels painted by an Italian master, was built for the coronation of George III and is used only for coronations and state openings of Parliament. It weighs four and one half tons. To accustom the horses to this weight they were hitched to the royal carriage which was loaded with lead, and driven slowly over the route of next week's procession.

Each horse wears an ornate Moroccan leather harness weighing 140 pounds. The horses will have several more rehearsals. They are exercised in the royal riding stable where musicians play drums and cymbals to accustom them to the unfamiliar sound. On Tuesday it will take the grooms at least two hours to perform their duties as hairdressers, arranging the horses' manes in long curls, with ribbons of scarlet to match the uniforms of the postillions, who are dressed in scarlet and gold.

MISSOURI ACT FOR CONTESTING PRIMARY DECLARED INVALID

State Supreme Court Holds Law of 1929 Unconstitutional Because of Provision for Hearing. Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 21.—The Missouri Supreme Court today held the act, passed by the 1929 Legislature, for contests of primary elections, to be unconstitutional. The decision will leave the State without machinery for contesting the results of primaries, since the 1929 act was the first one covering the subject.

The court stated that the Legislature has the power to pass laws relating to primary or nominating elections, if such laws are drawn in conformity with the Constitution. It found the present act to be defective because it provides that primary election cases may be heard by a Circuit Judge in vacation.

"The Judge of a court in vacation is not a court," the Supreme Court stated. The provision was placed in the law for the purpose of expediting action, by providing for the hearing of contests at times when the Circuit Court is not in session.

The measure was part of Gov. Caulfield's program, presented to the last Legislature.

The case was brought before the Court by a contest over a nomination for Justice of the Peace in Buchanan County.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF PLAN

Catholic Men's Council Speaker Favors Bureau to Handle Problem. By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 21.—The establishment of a bureau of public works as a means of relieving unemployment was urged on the National Council of Catholic men yesterday by the Rev. R. A. McGowan of Washington.

"Hospitals, colleges, civic improvements, even new streets, should be built in the trough of business depression rather than on the crest of prosperity," the speaker said. Training of children in law observance was stressed by Francis R. Lowther of St. Louis, treasurer of the council.

RAIL RATES ON LIVESTOCK TO CONTINUE UNTIL DEC. 1

President Announces Roads Have Agreed to Prolong Aid to Drought-Stricken Areas. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Hoover announced today that the railroads of the country have agreed to continue until Dec. 1 the 50 per cent decrease in rates upon livestock being moved out of drought-stricken areas and feed being moved into these areas for livestock. Although the Dec. 1 date has been set, the chief executive said the aid of the railways would not necessarily end at that time.

In the next six weeks, an exhaustive inquiry into actual needs of the drought-stricken farmers is to be undertaken both by the Government and the railroads to permit a revamping of the relief measures.

20 HURT WHEN BOMBAY POLICE CHARGE CROWD

Assembly Refused to Disperse; Woman Speaker and Four Others Arrested. By the Associated Press. BOMBAY, India, Oct. 21.—Twenty persons were injured today when the police fired and charged with their clubs into a crowd in the Parel district.

The throng surrounding a speaker refused to disperse, although a recent decree makes public meetings unlawful.

One of Caligula's Barges Recovered From Lake Nemi

HAULED up on the shore where, after 2000 years under water, it is to be preserved in a shed built around it. Caligula (Little Boots) was a dissolute emperor of Rome, who reigned 37-41 A. D. He maintained a fleet of lavish pleasure craft on Lake Nemi. It was known for centuries that some of these boats were at the bottom of the lake, for they could be seen at low water, and there were legends that the sunken barges held rich treasure. Finally the Fascist government undertook to drain the lake. The barges were found, but there was no treasure.

BRAZILIAN INSURGENTS CLAIM ANOTHER STATE

Federal Forces in Cuyaba, Matto Grosso, Said to Have Revolted. By the Associated Press. PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Oct. 21.—Brazilian revolutionary quarters here today said the state of Matto Grosso, second largest in the Brazilian union, had joined the insurgents. Information was that forces organized recently in Cuyaba by Col. Lima Silva to defend the Federal Government revolted and their commander, Maj. Ravello, assumed presidency of the state.

Col. Lima Silva, who was chief of all Federal forces in the state with headquarters at Campo Grande, fled to the Bolivian frontier with the Seventeenth Battalion of cadets and scouts, thus avoiding an encounter with a strong revolutionary column advancing on Campo Grande.

Matto Grosso is one of the large inland states of Brazil, somewhat removed from the principal theater of fighting. Insurgent forces there might aid in subjugation of loyal Goyas but would hardly be of much use along the Sao Paulo-Parana frontier where the major engagements, it seems, will be fought.

The revolutionary military staff has addressed a message to the Federal army and people warning them that rebel airplanes soon will cross the Sao Paulo border, but telling them not to be afraid, since the planes "belong to the army of liberation and are solely for military purposes, not intended to strike at defenseless cities."

DIAS DE MENDOZA, SPANISH ACTOR, DIES IN POVERTY

Husband of the Late Maria Guerrero and a Member of the Nobility. By the Associated Press. MADRID, Oct. 21.—A paralytic stroke caused the death yesterday of Diaz de Mendoza, Spanish actor and husband of the famous actress Maria Guerrero, who died several years ago.

De Mendoza belonged to the titled nobility, being the Marquis Fontanar Comde de Balzote. Aristocracy objected to the use of his titles while engaged in theatrical work. He was a manager at the time of his death and in the theatrical company bearing his name were several members of his family.

The actor died almost blind and in poverty, despite the fact that he was born rich. Theatrical investments, particularly in Buenos Aires, left him virtually penniless. To support himself, he was forced to sell his palace in Madrid and to continue acting. In this he was aided by his son, Fernando, and by Maria Guerrero, a niece of his late wife.

EUROPEAN STEEL CARTEL SAID TO FACE DISSOLUTION

Members Unsuccessful in Paris Conference to Prolong Its Existence. By the Associated Press. PARIS, Oct. 21.—Members of the European steel cartel have been meeting privately in Paris the last few days with the object of prolonging the cartel's existence. It is understood that since the cartel no longer represents the community of interests the effort has proved fruitless and the cartel probably will be dissolved.

Representatives of European zinc interests also have been in Paris to discuss methods of meeting the situation arising from overproduction and lowered prices. They expect to revive the international cartel which collapsed a few months ago after failure to induce American shippers to collaborate.

British Chancellor of Exchequer Declares Tariff Is Slippery Slope Leading to Bottomless Pit.

MAIN CAUSE OF WORLD TRADE SLUMP

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World. (Copyright, 1930, by Press and Politics Publishing Co., New York World and Mail.)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech before non-partisan free trade demonstration at Manchester last night, gave what is regarded here as the British Labor Government's rejection of the imperial preference proposal placed before the Imperial Conference by Richard B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, who was supported by most of the other Dominion delegates to the conference. "No protection" was his keynote.

At the end of a speech supporting the policy of free trade and denouncing protection, Snowden said: "Mr. Baldwin (former Conservative Premier) has a policy of imperial preference; but the Dominion Premier has made his policy clear. They ask Mr. Baldwin to change his fiscal policy so that preferential rates can be given to the products they send to this country."

"Imperial preference, however, cannot be carried out without a tax on food. Once begin a policy of protection and you're on a slippery slope that leads to a bottomless pit." Referring to rumors that the Government is considering a general 10 per cent import duty for

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

False Economic Gods.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

W HAT about the "new era" now?

For years American publicists without number pointed out the old line about mass production, high wages, mass consumption, still higher wages, and so on ad infinitum. Ah, yes, indeed! The magic carpet had indeed been discovered to waft us to untold heights of wealth and well-being. How the gods must laugh now! It would indeed be comic if it were not so tragic for millions of people.

How about the "seven sound years" that a certain weekly of universal circulation was wont to prate about at great length?

For years the industrialists of this country have been following false economic theory. They, aided and abetted by subsidized publicity, have brought an appalling condition to pass. They will pay the penalty.

People by the hundreds of thousands, misled and befuddled by the great wave of propaganda covering the country like a pall, have obligated themselves beyond hope, and are faced with tremendous losses in money and morals.

Don't lay it to the stock market crash. If the rosy industrial promises had been true, the stock market inflated prices would have been justified. It is simply the collapse of the entire basic structure: the result of ungodly and totally fallacious economic doctrine. Mr. Hoover to the contrary notwithstanding!

The "City's" Disapproval.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Y OUR morning contemporary expresses alarm because what it terms the "city" has voiced its disapproval of Proposition 1, enabling a federated city embracing St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Who is or are this so-called "city"? It merely consists of three individuals who happen for the moment to hold elective office. We know that an officeholder hates nothing so much as any change in the status quo, and our local group is no exception.

The same so-called "city" took over 20 years to come to any conclusion on the bridge problem. An intelligent business man could have solved it in 20 days. There are many other problems now confronting us. River front improvement, additional parks and playgrounds, the completion of the Plaza and Auditorium are merely a few. These so confound the minds of our local statesmen that they lapse into a coma in their swivel chairs. What we need most in this community is a forthright spirit of progress combined with intelligence and courage. Do we find this combination in the present triumvirate?

ENERGETIC VOTER.

Defects of P. R.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

D URING the past few months you have printed several letters praising proportional representation, or P. R., as a method of electing legislative bodies. May I present some of the fundamental defects of that essentially new system of voting?

In the first place it eliminates the primary, and thus forces the voter to attempt the impossible task of choosing from an array of candidates. The sponsors of P. R. will doubtless answer that if the voter knows only four or five candidates and marks them as his choices he will be likely to help elect at least one candidate. But if the voter knows only one-tenth of the candidates, how can he be sure that he has voted for a "like-minded" candidate?

But the most fundamental defect of P. R. is that it fosters class, religious and racial differences. The basis of P. R. is the bloc system. The danger is that such bloc is organized—with its own selfish interest in view, and puts that interest above the general welfare and ahead of every principle of American government. Witness Germany today under a P. R. system, ready at any moment to be torn asunder by civil wars, caused in large degree by the P. R. system of electing the Reichstag which accentuates the racial class and economic differences.

PLATO.

An Unemployment Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

F ROM all indications we are entering a winter that is going to be one of suffering for those out of work and a tremendous drain on our charitable agencies.

Immediately someone should take leadership in establishing methods of relief. As an opening suggestion I propose that the Chamber of Commerce call for the registration of all out of work and that every firm employing five or more persons be requested to employ one more man at not less than $25 per week for the six months starting Nov. 1. Every person who is not employed by any firm can be found for one man to each business that will not make this contribution a total loss to the employer.

A move along some such lines as this will again put money into circulation that will do much to improve conditions by the end of the six-month period, aside from the fact that a great charity will be performed.

JOSEPH W.

OUR MISGUIDED PROPHECY.

Up to this time a year ago we were hearing a great deal about the attainment of a new era of prosperity. For seven years industry had been active, business had carried on without interruption. Industrial efficiency had been increased amazingly. Output had been multiplied. Costs had been reduced. Hours of labor had been cut. Wages had been increased. Living standards had been advanced.

The President's Committee on Recent Economic Changes had made a report which outlined the sweeping gains of a period of unprecedented economic achievement. The American Academy of Political and Social Science met to celebrate the accomplishments of "the second industrial revolution." Economists pointed out that periods of business depression were becoming less frequent and less severe. Planners contended that security prices had been established on a new high level of permanent values. It appeared that we had attained a happy state of continuous and endless prosperity. We were even told, on high authority, that the abolition of poverty was in sight. Then came the crash.

A year of falling prices, unemployment and business stagnation has followed. Optimism has given way to pessimism. The modern prophets are the prophets of gloom. Today we hear again of the arrival of a new era. But this, we learn, is to be an era of retrenchment, reduced prosperity, lower and lower security prices, lower wages, of permanent reductions in the standard of living. We must tighten our belts against long, lean years which are ahead.

So John L. Barton, head of the national bank division of the American Bankers' Association, told the association in its annual convention at Cleveland. So Eugene R. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, told the Investment Bankers' Association the other day. But we can give no more credence to these forebodings of unending calamity than we could to the earlier prophecies of everlasting plenty. They will soon be silenced by time, as surely as were the happier forecasts which preceded them.

America has not lost, in a few short months, the sources of her industrial strength. Our natural resources are fully as rich as they were a year ago. Our labor force is equally skilled. It still aspires to a high level of material prosperity. Our mechanical equipment is the best in the world. The efficiency of our factory management is second to none. And we still possess the largest and richest market in the world which is not divided by tariff barriers.

Three million square miles, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the lakes to the gulf. Can any reasonable person suppose that a year of depression has permanently paralyzed the productive energies of our people?

Further months of difficult readjustment doubtless lie ahead. Readjustment to declining commodity prices, readjustment to changes in demand, readjustment in employment necessitated by the introduction of new machinery, readjustment of markets dictated by governmental interference with established channels of international trade. These adjustments will take time. But they can be and will be made.

This is not the first depression in industrial history. Nor will it endure forever, any more than its predecessors endured. The time has not yet come to write of the decline and fall of the American Republic.

HOUSE NUMBERS.

The game seems to be to put the house number where it will be as nearly invisible as possible. By night it is simple. A location in the shadows away from the illumination of the street light is all that is needed. Daytime, however, presents a sterner challenge to those who would outwit collectors and puzzle suburban friends. An old standby is to paint the number the same color as the house. Block operation is a great help. If every householder will post his number in a different place a first class result can be obtained. On the vine trellis, over the door, on the porch steps, under the eaves, along the porch railing and so on. In summer a good place is on the front door, because no one can possibly find the number with the door open, but for most of the year such a location is inexcusably easy to find. Curiously designed figures were once puzzling, but the public has got onto them. Likewise odd arrangements. The vertical order down the porch post was unassailably secure until the cross-word puzzle came. Now anybody can work that kind. This is not to suggest that the skill of the number placers is lessening. A trip to Cousin George's for Sunday dinner two weeks after they've moved to the suburbs will prove house numbers as much a game as ever.

THE CHURCH FEDERATION'S INDICTMENT.

That was an impressive indictment of conditions in Chicago broadcast last week by the Chicago Church Federation. The federation charged there exists an alliance between government and crime and that "there is co-operation between the gangsters, public officials, newspaper employees and large business interests to a most alarming extent." The federation's charge is doubtless true but, as the Baltimore Evening Sun points out, "It comes with rather bad grace from the Church Federation, which played an active part in foisting upon Chicago the vicious system of liquor distribution whence the underworld of Chicago derives the glens of war."

Many diagnosticians as able as the Church Federation, including such civic leaders as Col. Robert I. Randolph, trace the murders, terrorism and general lawlessness in Chicago to prohibition. Before the city was cursed with that evil, and the same is true of all other large American cities, the underworld lived a precarious hand-to-mouth existence; now it is magnificently financed by selling contraband. Cat off this princely revenue and gangsterism would languish. Until such time as the Church Federation acknowledges its responsibility for the conditions it decries it is ill-fitted for the role of Jeremiah.

THE LIBERAL FORUM.

A proper thought for the opening of the fifth session of the Y. M. H. A.-Y. W. H. A. Liberal Forum Sunday night is the reflection that no other agency regularly provides for the intellectual life of St. Louis the type of personal stimulation which it furnishes. During the years of its existence the Liberal Forum has brought to St. Louis many brilliant minds, a large number of whom probably would not otherwise have made a public appearance in the city. The list includes Harry Elmer Barnes, Horace M. Kallen, John Haynes Holmes, Will Durant, James Watson, Philip La Follette, John Cowper Powys, Max Eastman, Judge Florence Allen and Dr. Morris Fishbein. Clarence Darrow, inaugurator of the present season, will be followed by Agnes McPhail, first woman member of the Canadian Parliament; Alexander Matheson, Paul E. Kellogg, Harry A. Overstreet of the City College of New York and Maurice Blumstein, author of "Humanity Unbound." Through the announced topics of these speakers the Forum will provide discussions relating to philosophy, economics, education, sociology, psychology and international relations.

TREASURER BRUNK'S WEAK DEFENSE.

Larry Brunk, suspended State Treasurer, pleads ignorance as his defense to the charge of making a false report to Gov. Canfield upon the condition of the State's deposit in the Federal State Bank of Aurora, to which Brunk personally owed $25,000.

Examiners from the State Finance Department found the bank had withheld $400 which it owed the State as interest on the State's deposit. The bank had pocketed a part of the money and had credited the balance of $250 to a personal account in Brunk's name, to which account it had charged various amounts due the bank from Brunk as interest on his loan.

When on this showing Gov. Canfield suspended Brunk and directed the Attorney-General to institute proceedings to oust him from office, the Treasurer withheld a statement. He had two lawyers in Jefferson City, but the job of preparing a statement for the public seemingly was too big for them. It was not until he had engaged other counsel in Kansas City that the ancient and much used defense of ignorance was evolved.

Some jobs are big for even astute counsel, but when all else fails the client can always plead that he didn't know anything about it. The fact that Mr. Brunk made a false report could not be denied. The fact that the interest had not been paid to the State could not be refuted. The fact that there existed the personal Brunk account was a matter of bank record. So, Mr. Brunk laid the blame on a clerk in his office, who, he said, had failed to make proper calculations as to the interest due the State. As for Mr. Brunk, he was the State Treasurer and could not be expected to be bothered by the details of his office. Airily he waved the whole thing aside as a small clerical error.

But surely Mr. Brunk knew he owed the bank $25,000 and that banks have a habit of expecting borrowers to pay interest on their loans. Even if he had not sufficient concern for the State's money in his charge to know whether a depository was paying interest on it, his own personal business relations with the bank might be expected to be a matter for his concern.

This is the second time the Treasurer has used ignorance as an excuse when publicly faced with irregularities in his office. When the Governor and Attorney-General Shartel, his associate members on the State Fund Commission, called him to account for accepting $100,000 of unsatisfactory bonds as collateral for a State deposit without complying with the legal requirement that the bonds be submitted for their approval, the Treasurer blandly said that he had been in office a year before he knew there was such a law.

Mr. Brunk is entirely too ignorant to be in charge of the State's money. In admitting his ignorance he should have submitted his resignation and thus saved the Supreme Court and the law department of the State the bother of going ahead with the ouster proceeding.

"BUTCHER" WEYLER.

"Butcher" Weyler—otherwise Gen. Don Valeriano Weyler, Marquis of Tenerife, Duke of Albi and Knight of the Golden Fleece—is dead at the age of 72. The name evokes memories. In the mauve decade it was used synonymously with Beelzebub and Lucifer because, as Spanish commander during the Cuban insurrection of 1894-7, he established concentration camps in which thousands of civilians were reported to have starved or died of disease. Time has blurred the outlines of Weyler's deeds and he is no longer a nursery hobgoblin, though, far from recanting the crimes charged to him, he maintained to the last that what he did was a matter of strict military necessity.

Historians of the future, pondering the career of this weakened little man, who affected the starchy uniform of his hero, Gen. Grant, may plausibly ascribe to him a major role in the destiny of the United States. Weyler was the precipitating agent of the Spanish-American War, and from that war the United States first emerged as a world power. It gave this country the overlordship of the Caribbean and the ownership of the Philippine Islands, and thus plunged it into international politics. Conversely, Weyler reduced his own country, once the proudest empire in the world, to a provincial European state.

So the fair Clío, or whoever it is that keeps the historical record straight, may find it necessary to put the United States' account with Don Valeriano in the debit column.

A MELODIOUS COMPARISON.

Once again it becomes our duty, and a pleasure as always, to break a lance for the American woman. Certainly the statement by Miss Agnes Hamilton, M. P., that, while the American woman may excel in business, her British sister has galloped away from her politically, requires attention. Superiority in politics, as in other activities, is, we assume, determined by results. Results in politics necessarily means office, and by that incontestable yardstick the American woman, we contend, cuts as impressive and comely a figure as the British woman. It may be that no such fountain of statistics, no such chateaus of facts, as Miss Margaret Bondfield has as yet appeared in the American terrain, but where in that Websterian circuit "whose morning drumbeat following the sun and keeping time with the hours" may be seen a Mabel Walker Willebrandt? It may be true, too, that history will not enroll Ma Ferguson's name among our great post-war Governors, but what English woman could muster up the nerve to rule a domain like Texas? She would as soon think of crashing the gate of Windsor Castle as attempting so imperial a job. And when it comes to high political finance we offer Ruth Hanna McCormick as a spender of the blood royal compared with whom the most extravagant Princess of Merrie England is a dainty piker. While we're about it, we might ask the identity of the first English woman to trip her satiated way into the House of Commons? Wasn't it Lady Astor, whom some post laureate will eventually immortalize as Nancy of Virginia? For the time being that will be, so to speak, about all.

The nation, which is being debunked, has nothing on Missouri, which has just been debunked.

A GOOD QUESTION TO ASK CANDIDATES.

The Lure of Indirect Taxation

Reducing direct taxes and increasing indirect levies is popular political gesture, but the people must pay in either case; states with latter system always more extravagant; Federal taxation heaviest burden of all, yet reform efforts are confined to states; least perceptible taxes proved invariably most dangerous.

R. H. James in the Texas Monthly (Reprinted from Fleet's Review).

N EARLY a century and a half ago an American statesman observed that "taxes which are imperceptibly paid are more dangerous than others, because they collect each year. The per capita cost of the Government of the United States is today more than 90 times what it was in the presidency of Thomas Jefferson, a record of increase unmatched in any age or country."

Ask the man in the street or on the farm where to find a Federal tax collector and he'll tell you he never heard of one. Yet every bill collector and every girl who stands at a cash register is a collector of Federal taxes. Every manufacturer, every corporation, every business big or little has been drafted into the Federal tax gathering service. A Federal tax forms part of the purchase price of every article offered for sale, even to the commonest necessities of life. Many a man pays more to the Federal Government on the cigarettes he buys than his state ad valorem tax amounts to, and never thinks about it, perhaps never knows it. And he may be the very man who applauds the loudest when some candidate for Governor or the Legislature tells him that his state tax is a grievous burden which he should no longer be compelled to bear.

The $400,000,000 expected to accrue to the Federal Treasury from the latest tariff law will be collected from a mere handful of importers. But no American citizen can escape the ultimate payment of his share of that tax. Nor is $400,000,000 by any means the full measure of the tariff burden which the consumers must bear. They must pay an added tribute, so enormous as to be almost beyond computation, which the beneficiaries of the tariff are enabled to levy by the elimination of foreign competition.

Ad valorem taxes are simple of calculation, but income taxes may be almost infinitely complex, as evidenced by the hundreds of millions which have been refunded. To every great corporation must, in common sense, protect itself against contingency, and the protection necessarily takes the form of an increased price on the commodity which it sells to the public.

The total burden which Federal taxation imposes upon the people cannot be definitely calculated, but it is by far the greatest of their tax burdens and the greatest factor in that high cost of living which troubles so many in their efforts to make both ends meet. And yet the fight for tax relief is always being waged in the field of state politics and not in the field of Federal politics.

The abolition of the state ad valorem tax does not mean tax reduction; it means a tax revolution in which the most effective barrier against state extravagance and waste will be broken down, and the greatest factor in that high cost of living which troubles so many in their efforts to make both ends meet. And yet the fight for tax relief is always being waged in the field of state politics and not in the field of Federal politics.

A COMMISSION OF COMMISSIONS.

AND now Mr. Hoover might appoint a commission to find out what his fact-finding commissions do with the facts they find.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.

ON a plateau, 33 feet above the level of the Potomac, in latitude 33 degrees, 33 minutes, 29.4 seconds north and longitude 77 degrees, 00 minutes, 35.7 seconds west from Greenwich, lies a tiny realm. There sits the Capitol of the United States. In a spacious office, one level below the first floor, may be found the man who is a figurative sovereign of this domain—David Lynn, architect of the Capitol. For something like 30 years he has worked there. For the last seven years he has been in complete charge of the structural and mechanical maintenance of that area.

He knows every inch of territory of the Hill. It is part of him. Thus, when old landmarks give way to new and more modern structures—as was the case when the famous old Congress Hall Hotel was torn down to make room for the new House office building—it is as if old friends were making their departure.

As architect of the Capitol, Lynn's duties are widespread and many. His staff of more than 500 is kept busy throughout the year seeing to it that everything is kept in shape and in the best of order.

Nor is the Capitol Building the only structure to which he must give attention. There are the Senate and House office buildings which flank each side of the Capitol, the huge Capitol power plant several blocks from the Hill, the Library of Congress, the Senate and House galleries, the Columbia Hospital in downtown Washington, the District of Columbia Courthouse, and the homes of the Court of Appeals and the Court of Claims—all are under his care. But the Capitol is his principal concern.

A tremendous construction program on the Hill, which adds to his duties. His position requires that he let contracts for such buildings.

These projects include the new House office building which is to cost $7,500,000, the new Supreme Court building, at a cost of $1,140,000, improvements in the botanical gardens at a cost of $1,475,383, annex to the Library of Congress at a cost of $7,100,000 and completion of the Senate office building at a cost of $6,163,656.

As a member of the Public Building Commission, the Commission for the Enlargement of the Capitol Grounds, the Library of Congress Building Commission, the Supreme Court Building Commission, and the National Memorial Commission, his time is well occupied.

SHORT AND SWEET.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

A GREAT deal has been written and spoken about the tariff, most of it meaningless and practically all of it dull. But what Mr. Henry Ford said about it recently in London was neither. He said: "Tariffs as trade protection are rarely successful," and fortified this statement with the remark that British buyers of Ford during 1929 paid $1,750,000 more than American buyers for the same number of cars. Here is a volume in two lines.

If your child had a bad cold, don't be content just to let the child be no longer has a fever. A cold is bad enough, but a child that catches cold after, needs attention.

Half-sick, pale, run-down, don't have the strength to resist disease and throw on. The after-effects of a cold can be very serious. Start building up weight and strength.

Father John's Medicine proved for over 75 years to be the best. It is used regularly over 184 institutions and is a simple food medicine which supplies the vitamins the child needs. Children thrive amazingly. Their appetites prove, their very food seems more good. Little by little, they come strong and vigorous.

Father John's Medicine is a combination of simple food and none of which could harm.

Of Making Many Books

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

Chaucer in Royal Garb

THE CANTERBURY TALES of Geoffrey Chaucer, together with a translation in Modern English by William Van Wyck, illustrated by Rockwell Kent. (Coville Press, Inc., New York City, 2 vols., $5.00.)

It is a fact that the present year has brought forth two modern versions of Chaucer's "The Canterbury Tales." One is a translation of the original into English, the other is a translation of the original into French. The English version is the work of William Van Wyck, and the French version is the work of John G. Neihardt.

The original text and William Van Wyck's version are presented in parallel columns. Thus, with a minimum of difficulty, it is made possible to become fairly well acquainted with the original while reading the modernized version for pleasure, as it should be read. No doubt Chaucer experts could point out many places in the new version for adverse criticism, and an expert verse-smith might conceivably show where better renderings have been made or have been made, perhaps, in the version of Frank Ernest Hill. But it will not be denied that the Van Wyck version flows smoothly and carries one easily along.

The full-page illustrations by Rockwell Kent were conceived in a spirit appropriate to the text and add greatly to the beauty of the set.

"MARIGOLD" NOT FOR AMERICAN AUDIENCES

Scotch Comedy at Shubert Lacks Appeal on This Side of the Atlantic.

MARIGOLD, a comedy in three acts by J. M. Barrie and P. H. Fraser, presented at the Shubert theater with the following all-English cast:

By H. H. NIEMEYER.

WHAT is to be said about a play such as "Marigold" which came to the Shubert theater last night direct from a run of 13 consecutive performances in New York City? Not that the fact that New York audiences refused to accept this Scotch comedy should have any effect upon the play's fate elsewhere. Many a good play has failed in New York before and been acclaimed, with open arms, on the road.

But, unfortunately "Marigold" is something less than 33 per cent Scotch. One of its three acts, the second, has moments of charm and brightness and the curtain falls, in that act, on a most effective scene.

But the opening act is intolerably dull and the last one only stupid so that the percentage of entertainment is not very high. Just in spots, too, is it well played. The Scotch dialect, being difficult to understand and the story being local rather than international it has almost no appeal to an American audience.

Certainly "Marigold" ran for some two years in London before crossing the Atlantic but then, perhaps, it is a type of conversational comedy which would be attractive to a British audience and leave an American one cold. Surely there are purely American comedies which have crossed the ocean, going the other way, which failed to get more than a polite hearing in London and it is not for us to quarrel with the tastes and likes and dislikes of the English theatergoer. England, quite recently, gave us "Bird in Hand," for instance, which makes up, with considerable to spare, for "Marigold."

The story, laid in Scotland in 1842 when Queen Victoria was paying a visit to Edinburgh as a young bride, concerns the British monarch only conversationally. Her Majesty almost appears at the close of the play but the final curtain comes down before she arrives upon the stage. The desire of all Scotland to get a glimpse of the Queen and the Prince Consort, however, tempts a pretty girl from the nearby town of Paradykes to run away from home and spend the evening in the quarters of a gallant young infantry officer. This, it is fairly easy to see, develops into a romance which comes to a most satisfactory conclusion and that is about all there is to the plot. There is a stern father, a mother who is beyond the pale in old Scotland because she is a play-actress and a kindly aunt who straightens things out successfully. It is the role of the aunt, beautifully played by Jean Clyde, which is the star part rather than the title characterization of Sophie Stewart. Miss Stewart, however, is also charming. These two women, and Elias Irving, as the young officer, divide whatever honors are to be got from the play.

NOTABLES IN ABYSSINIA

FOR CORONATION OF EMPEROR

Crown Prince Greets Missions at Station; Bands Play Anthems of Each Nation.

By the Associated Press.

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, Oct. 21.—This Abyssinian town, perched high on the hills, is beginning to fill up with foreign notables for the coronation of Ras Tafari as Emperor of Ethiopia.

The American, Greek, Swedish and German missions reached here this forenoon. They were greeted at the railway station by the Crown Prince and Abyssinian dignitaries.

As each envoy arrived bands played his national anthem. Crowds lined the flag-bedecked streets and added their enthusiasm to the welcome.

The Coptic Bishop, accompanied by the Emperor's daughter, arrived from Switzerland, where the Princess is being educated.

X-Ray Expert Dies.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21.—Dr. William B. Bowman, 44 years old, known nationally for his work with the X-ray, was found dead last night in his apartment, apparently of a heart attack. Dr. Bowman returned yesterday from St. Louis after attending a national conference of X-ray specialists. He came here from St. Louis in 1910. His father is in the Government service in Washington, and his brother, Chester Bowman, lives here.

Mrs. Susie Ellison Poulton Dies.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE engagement of Miss Helen Thomas Moore, for a reception at their home, 2361 Tower Grove avenue, Sunday evening, Nov. 1, at 8 o'clock. The affair will be given by Dr. Moore, director of Shaw's Garden, in honor of the delegates to the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the first recognized use of cinchona bark from which quinine is made.

A wedding of interest in St. Louis is that of Miss Emma Margaret Adler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Adler of Cincinnati, and Harry Marx Alos, son of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Alos of the Congress Hotel, which will take place this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Lo Santaville Country Club in Cincinnati. Rabbi David Philipson of Cincinnati and Rabbi Ferdinand Iserman of Temple Israel will officiate.

The bride will be attended by Miss Jane Raugh of Cincinnati as maid of honor and Mrs. Ransome Place of New York as matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Schroder, Miss Janet Lauer, Miss Elaine Joseph and Mrs. James Pollak of Cincinnati. The bridegroom will wear frocks of peach-toned satin made after the Grecian mode and will carry bouquets of tulle and roses. The matron of honor and the maid of honor will wear gowns similarly designed of turquoise blue satin and will carry tulle and roses and delphiniums.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father and will wear a period gown of ivory tulle trimmed in duchess lace, from her mother's wedding gown, and embroidered in pearls. Her tulle veil will fall from a wreath of orange blossoms and she will carry a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Gordon Scherck of St. Louis will be best man for Mr. Alos. The groomsmen will be Edgar J. Moss, Howard Baer, Thomas Adler, brother of the bride; Jack Simon, Edmund J. Marx Jr., Leo L. Levantrop, New York; Benjamin Loeb and Edward Waldman of St. Louis. Among the out-of-town guests in addition to the St. Louis members of the bridal party are Mr. and Mrs. David B. Alos, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stix and Mrs. Edward Marx.

A dinner dance will follow the ceremony. Mr. Alos and his bride will sail from New York for a two months' tour of Europe. They will make their home at the Congress Hotel.

Mrs. John J. Holt Jr., 525 Forest court, has as her guest, Mrs. James C. Cunningham of Chicago. The visitor will be here two weeks.

Mrs. J. J. Dirks of Kingshighway Hills, who passed the summer in California, will return home tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Lane, 4238 Lafayette avenue, have as their guests Mr. Lane's sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fischer of Los Angeles, Cal. They will remain until the last of the month.

Missouri Women's Memorial Post No. 180, American Legion, will give a benefit bridge party at the Knights of Columbus Building, 3917 Lindell boulevard, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

GEORGE BRAND'S FUNERAL

TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Services at Scottish Rite Cathedral at 2 P. M. for Former Probate Court Clerk.

Funeral services for George Brand, chief clerk of the Probate Court for 24 years, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, 2627 Lindell boulevard, with burial in Salem cemetery. Probate Court will adjourn for the day.

Mr. Brand, who was 60 years old and resided at 2137 Nebraska avenue, died yesterday at Deaconess Hospital of complications induced by appendicitis. Surgeons had feared to operate because of the complications.

Born in Belleville, Mr. Brand came to St. Louis as a stenographer at the age of 15. Later, he served as assistant secretary of the Board of Public Improvements for eight years, becoming Probate Clerk Jan. 1, 1907. He had been treasurer of the Humane Society of Missouri for 25 years and was an active layman in the Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, Jefferson avenue and Accomac street. He was a member of the committee which framed the proposed constitutional amendment for the merger of St. Louis and St. Louis County.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Alt Brand, his father, J. C. Brand, and two sisters, Anna and Lydia Brand.

F. H. Prince Buys the Westmore.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The sloop Westmore, one of the unsuccessful contenders for the right to defend America's Cup in the international races off Newport, R. I., last summer, has been sold to Frederick H. Prince of Boston, sportsman and banker. It became known to the syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan and George Nichols, competed in the races at a cost estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. The price paid by Prince was not announced. It was said Prince would race the sloop in Class J next summer.

Any aviator will tell you that an airplane is easier to operate than an automobile when you know how.

It's the same way with coke. It's easy to fire when you know how. And, of course, you get far better results. Many people have tried coke but didn't learn how to fire it. Naturally they weren't as well satisfied as they should have been. Thousands of others have tried St. Louis By-Product Coke and because they were instructed how to fire it properly they are enthusiastic about this clean fuel and wouldn't think of using anything else.

This instruction is absolutely free, and includes installation of cross dampers. It's part of our service. Available day or night. Simply telephone Central 1800 and ask for a free demonstration. ## New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.

HOPE HAMPTON has returned a trifle triumphant, following a distinct measure of success in operatic circles abroad. There are whisperings of her possible appearance next year at Covent Garden, also in Berlin, Vienna and at the Paris opera.

Thus has the Titian haired lady had revenge on titling Broadway where her name often inspired a sly wink. Of her talents I cannot speak, having never seen her on screen, theatrical or operatic stage. She strikes one as pretty in the baby doll manner and the times I've seen her in public displayed lady-like decorum.

For many years she and her gray-haired, eagle-like husband, Jules Brulatour, who amassed millions in the raw film business, have been omniscient at the opera, first nights, Mayfair club dances and in smart cafes. At such events Miss Hampton's frocks inspired admiring gasps of lorgnette lifters.

They dwell in a palatial home on the upper avenue and have followed the social migrations to Palm Beach, and the French Riviera. Brulatour is out of New Orleans of French extraction and is reputed to have lavished incredible amounts to make his wife a fixture in the film firmament.

It is authoritatively told she inspired as much fan mail as Mary Pickford in her palmist period, yet never clicked cinematically in a big way. Several years ago she began to study voice, but on the eve of starting in a musical production something happened. Production was mysteriously abandoned.

Later she did appear in light opera—"Madam Pompadour" if memory serves—in which she won personal praise, but the opera was short-lived. Broadway had another chuckle, whispering "Finita!" But Miss Hampton kept studying music and languages quite unperturbed.

She is now proficient in German, Italian and French. Should she arrive finally at the Metropolitan, as thick rumors hint, victory over the shoulder shruggers will be strictly Laura Jean Libby. As the legend runs, she is a modern Cinderella who once answered the cry of "Cachet" in a Philadelphia department store.

A FAT lady leaning out a fourth story window far over on East Thirty-ninth street was rattling the sidewalk below. The girl slowly twisting a toe in the asphalt finally glanced up, delivered a laconic "O. K. Ma!" and slowly shuffled away. New York!

CHARLES B. DRISCOLL has so frequently flushed red asking New Yorkers about their wives, only to learn they have been divorced. Now he beams: "How are the folks?"

MISS RANDOLPH'S FUNERAL

Funeral services for Miss Violet T. Randolph of the Penrose School faculty, who died yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital of tetanus arising in an infection of the gums, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Alexander chapel, 6175 Delmar boulevard, with interment in Valhalla cemetery.

Miss Randolph, who was 35 years old, was graduated from Missouri University in 1921, and in the same year was appointed teacher of music and the fourth and fifth grades in Penrose School. She conducted the school orchestra. Survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Randolph, and three sisters, Miss Cary Randolph, Miss Mamie Randolph and Miss Elizabeth Randolph, who are teachers in the public schools. The family resides at 5645 Barmore avenue.

CUBA INDIFFERENT TO WEYLER'S DEATH

Government Official Says Nation Has No Condolences to Offer.

By the Associated Press.
HAVANA, Oct. 21.—A Cuban Government official today said that no national expression of sympathy would be issued on the death yesterday of Captain-General Don Valeriano Weyler, Spanish Governor, whose stern rule here in 1897 brought him paeans of hate from the people of Cuba.

"We have nothing to say—no condolences to offer," Subsecretary of State Miguel Angel de la Campa said today. "We shall be silent—indifferent to this man's death."

Diario de la Marina, Spanish language paper, referred to the dead General as "the last survivor of a national resentment."

Weyler's name in Cuba became hated in that era preceding this nation's birth as a republic. His famous "concentration order," said to have resulted in the deaths of thousands of Cubans from hunger and starvation, made him the most feared and hated man of his time in Cuba.

It was a famous saying here that Cuba, after the war was over, "made peace with Spain, but never with Weyler."

However, there are many who, even while disliking Weyler, were forced to admire him for his courage and fearlessness in times of crisis, and an occasional flash of tenderness which seemed oddly inconsistent with his general relentlessness and "there shall be no quarter" policy.

The General later wrote a complete history of his stay here entitled "My Command in Cuba." In it he sought to justify the stern, inflexible course he followed while Governor-General.

Only One Carriage in Funeral Procession, Services Early.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Oct. 21.—In a wooden casket, borne by a hired hearse, the body of Captain-General Valeriano Weyler, whose Cuban administration thirty or more years ago was one of the causes of the Spanish-American war, was taken today to its grave in San Lorenzo Cemetery, through a heavy downpour. There was only one carriage, containing relatives, in the funeral procession.

The burial ceremony at the Weyler home, had been performed two hours earlier than scheduled to escape the gaze of crowds.

The ceremony was to have begun at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Instead it started at 2. The Bishop of Tenerife said mass in a chapel improvised in Gen. Weyler's former workroom. Among the General's many titles was that of Marquis of Tenerife. It happened that the Bishop of that name was visiting in Madrid and he was called upon for the ceremony.

Purse Stolen From Office.

Mrs. Albert A. Miller, 5539 Maple avenue, in charge of the office of the Christian Association, 1015 Ambassador Building, reports that her purse containing $27 was stolen when she left the office for a few moments yesterday. A man and a woman who were in the office were gone when she returned. The empty purse was found later in the Dolph building, across the street.

SNOWDEN VOICES LABOR OPPOSITION TO PROTECTION

revenue, Snowden declared emphatically:

"No government, while I am in charge of national finances, will ever give serious consideration to such a proposal. Introduction of the tariff system into this country would strike at the security of the political life of the nation. Members would go to Parliament to represent not national interests but pledged to support the selfish interests of particular industries."

"One of the great causes of world depression is protection, because it reduces the purchasing power of people."

Quota Scheme Considered.

The Economic Co-operation Committee of the Imperial Conference met this afternoon with William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, in the chair, and continued its discussion of a quota system for wheat imports into this country. This is one of the British Government's counter-suggestions to Bennett's proposal for a British tariff on imported wheat with preference for Empire-grown wheat.

So far the committee has considered only the question of how to give the Dominions a guaranteed market for a greater amount of wheat than is at present imported from them and how the machinery for importation along such lines can be arranged. There has been no discussion regarding the question of distributing quota wheat after it enters the country.

For five years the Dominions have been exporting to Great Britain 47.4 per cent of the total foreign wheat sent into this country. The discussion now is concerned with a means of increasing that percentage to at least 50 per cent and probably more. So far the committee has not discussed the question of guaranteed or maximum prices.

SAYS HUSBAND FORCED HER TO GET DIVORCE WHILE ILL

Former Wife of Chicago Steel & Wire Co. President Seeks to Have Decree Set Aside.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Clare H. Green has asked the Circuit Court to set aside the divorce she obtained two years ago from J. Birchard Green, president of the Chicago Steel & Wire Co. and the Fusion Welding Co., a poet and lecturer on radiology. She alleged her husband forced her to bring suit while she was physically and mentally ill.

Simultaneously, Mrs. Green started suit for $50,000 damages for the loss of her society, affection and support in the two intervening years.

The defendant's present wife, Mrs. Patti Dumbek Green, member of a prominent Texas family, was made defendant last July in another suit by the former wife asking $75,000 damages for alienation of affections.

The complaint in the suppressed suit made public yesterday alleged that Green, after 15 years of married life, planned "to divorce himself from her to marry another woman, induced her, while suffering from neuropsychosis and insane, to present a false case and secure a divorce."

Did your Child have a bad cold last week?

If your child had a bad cold last week, don't be content just because the child is no longer hacking and sneezing. A cold is bad enough, but a child that catches cold easily and often, needs attention.

Half-sick, pale, run-down children do not have the strength to resist disease and throw off infection. The after-effects of a cold can be very serious. Start now to build up weight and strength.

Father John's Medicine has been proved for over 75 years by countless mothers. It is used regularly by over 184 institutions and hospitals. It is a simple food medicine that supplies the vitamins that every child needs. Children thrive on it amazingly. Their appetite improves, their very food seems to do them more good. Pale cheeks gladden with health. Little bodies become strong and vigorous.

Father John's Medicine is a combination of simple food elements, none of which could harm an infant.

Because of its scientific combination of ingredients it brings all the benefits of cod liver oil in the form best suited to a growing child's needs. It is easily assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. It tastes good and contains no alcohol or drugs.

If your child had a cold last week, start now with Father John's Medicine. Don't take needless chances when this simple aid will help build strength and vigor. All druggists have it.

HERE IS A MAN YOU OUGHT TO KNOW BETTER

He is the Stock Fire Insurance Company Agent. Available through him is a fund of information that you should have for the better protection of your family, your home, your business, your community.

More than a hundred years ago the Stock Fire Insurance companies established relations with property owners through local agents. To this agency system Stock Fire Insurance owes much of its success in serving the individual and the public. It has resulted in a degree of personal contact with and personal interest in the welfare of the insured that would not have been possible in any other way.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

Is represented throughout the country by thousands of the best citizens of the various states. They offer and have available a service that embraces the many activities of the companies for the conservation of life and property, better building construction, improved safeguards for homes, business, institutions and communities.

By seeking the counsel of a local agent, unnumbered property owners have profited to the extent of getting better protection at a lower cost.

Stock Fire Insurance means much more than reliable indemnity. Your agent may be able to suggest ways through which you can use his service and that of his companies to your greater advantage.

DISPUTE OVER FIGURES ON COTTON BELT HAULS

Southern Pacific Ordered to Supply Comparative Data
at I. C. C. Hearing.

By the Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 21.—Cross examination became longer and more heated today as witnesses for the Southern Pacific Railroad tried for the second day to prove the desirability of the Southern Pacific's acquisition of control of the Cotton Belt.

The greatest argument was on the question of requesting the Southern Pacific to supply records showing the comparative haul between the South Pacific and the Cotton Belt on a traffic interchange by those roads.

M. G. Roberts, general counsel for the Frisco, said he wanted these figures because he thought they would show the average haul on the Southern Pacific was greater than that on the Cotton Belt. He was sustained by Thomas F. Sullivan, examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission, in charge of the hearing, over objection of Southern Pacific counsel, who said such records would be expensive to compile.

Earnings and Mileage.
Roberts tried to obtain from F. H. Plaisted, Southern Pacific freight traffic manager, an admission that the Southern Pacific already was earning more than any other railroad in the Southwest except the Santa Fe, but Plaisted would not make that admission. The Frisco attorney also called attention to the large mileage already operated by the Southern Pacific.

Plaisted continued to stress the idea that the Southern Pacific wanted to control the Cotton Belt to assure the continuance of the present friendly relations between the two roads and the existing exchange of traffic. The other southwestern roads had expressed fear that the move would result in the diversion of traffic now interchanged with them to the Cotton Belt route.

Roberts' question about earnings came after Plaisted had said his road was in a precarious condition until it had a north outlet. Plaisted admitted the Southern Pacific connected with north-south roads other than the Cotton Belt at Paris, Denison and Sherman, Tex., and Shreveport and New Orleans, La., but he said these roads were competitors in Texas whereas the Southern Pacific needed a co-ordinated north outlet.

Cites Business of Trucks.
Plaisted devoted much time to an effort to show the Cotton Belt should be allied with the Southern Pacific rather than the Illinois Central, in whose group it originally had been placed. He testified the Illinois Central and Cotton Belt were competitors from St. Louis to Shreveport whereas the Cotton Belt and Southern Pacific were competitors in only a minor degree. He said that with the trucks taking over much of the short haul business it was essential that railroads have long hauls.

For the first time a representative of the Missouri Pacific took part in the cross questioning. Attorneys for the Texas & Pacific, "Katy" and Rock Island were active in cross examination yesterday.

Texas Killed in Gas Explosion.
By the Associated Press.
PALESTINE, Tex., Oct. 21.—Claude Hall, 28 years old, died today of injuries suffered yesterday when an explosion wrecked two business houses here. Hall was working on a gas meter connection when the blast occurred. M. A. Moser, insurance man and his daughter, Miss Marie Moser, 19, who were severely burned and bruised, will recover, doctors said.

WHY are Camels welcomed with cheers in any company—a twosome or a crowd? Because they're mild—not flat or tasteless but naturally mild. They have the marvelous aroma that only choice tobaccos, mellowed by golden sunshine, then expertly cured and superbly blended, can give a cigarette. There's nothing artificial about this delightful fragrance. No doctoring, no over-processing can produce it. Camel's refreshing mildness is there from the start.

Swing with the crowd to Camels. Learn the happy difference between true mildness and insipid flatness. Smoke without fear of throat-discomfort or after-taste—just for pleasure!

CHINESE BANDITS SEIZE 7 PRIESTS AND 10 NUNS

Two Lazarists Slain at Kian, Central Kiangsi, Says Report to Shanghai.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, Oct. 21.—The abduction of seven Catholic priests and 10 nuns and the murder of two of the priests by outlaws who ransacked Kian, Central Kiangsi Province, was reported today to the local headquarters of the Italian Lazarist Catholic mission.

Among those reported captured was Bishop Mignani of the Lazarist mission. The two reported slain were Chinese Catholic priests.

The abducted priests and nuns are Italian, French and Chinese. It was reported the bishop and one priest had been released to arrange ransom, while the others were held by the Reds as hostages. Kian is 100 miles south of Nanchang, which is being held by a small force of provincial troops against a threatened Communist invasion.

Correction by Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The Associated Press carried in its report yesterday an item that Edward Paulson died of burns inflicted by a hot iron applied by his wife to relieve a stomach pain. Dr. Luther M. Loran reported today, however, that Paulson himself applied the iron and died from a blood clot on his brain, and not from burns from the iron.

BALCHEN, FLYER WITH BYRD, CONFIRMS SECRET WEDDING

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Bernt Balchen, who flew across the Atlantic Ocean with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and later was chief pilot of the plane that carried explorer to the South Pole and back, has married his Norwegian sweetheart, Miss Emmy Soerlie, Oslo. The ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon in the First Reformed Church of the Tullerides at Cortesville, N. J.

Balchen and his bride had hoped to keep their marriage secret until he had completed a series of flight tests for the Fokker Aircraft Corporation at Peterboro Airport, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., where he is employed. These would have required about 10 days and they were then going away on their honeymoon. When the news leaked out yesterday Balchen left the airport and his friends prophesied the wedding trip would start at once.

Before leaving the field, however, Balchen confirmed the fact of the wedding and said he and Miss Soerlie had been engaged four years. She came to this country four years ago and has been living with her uncle and aunt in Brooklyn. She is 23 years old and Balchen 30.

A lovely outcast

Pleasant company always passed her by... but she never guessed the reason. She didn't know that unsightly teeth are offensive to others. And that unsightly teeth will never correct this condition unless you remove the cause of stain, tartar, discoloration and decay. Authorities call it Bacterial-Mouth. We all have it, and only our dental cream will remove it... That's KOLYNOS.

This New Technique quickly makes Teeth Dazzling White

HERE is only one correct way to clean and whiten teeth quickly. That is the method long advocated by dentists and perfected by KOLYNOS... called the Dry-Brush Technique. But switch to KOLYNOS and judge for yourself. Use a half-inch on a dry brush twice daily.

You'll quickly discover that teeth marred by stain, tartar and decay, and denuded at their necks by receding gums, are tell-tale signs of carelessness. Teeth look whiter—fully 3 shades in 3 days! Gums will look firmer and pinker. Your mouth will tingle with a delightful, sweet taste.

Unique! Of course! There's nothing like KOLYNOS when it enters the mouth. It multiplies 25 times and becomes a pleasant tasting, antiseptic FOAM that permits the Dry-Brush Technique! Aided by the dry bristles of the toothbrush this FOAM gets into and cleans every pit, fissure and crevice like no toothpaste you have ever used.

Ugly tartar is quickly dissolved. Acids are neutralized. Dangerous germs that cause Bacterial-Mouth are killed. Teeth are cleaned down to the naked white enamel without injury. And for 3 hours after each brushing this FOAM continues to clean teeth and combat germs.

Expect Results in 3 Days

KOLYNOS wins new users by comparison. No ordinary toothpaste can match its effectiveness. It permits the Dry-Brush Technique which keeps the brush bristles stiff enough to do the work they should do.

Introduce yourself to KOLYNOS. Start using it with the Dry-Brush Technique and within 3 days you'll understand why KOLYNOS is so popular. Get a tube of KOLYNOS from your druggist.

250 AT STATE CONVENTION OF BEAUTY SHOP OWNERS

Demonstrations to Be Given of Modern Methods; Style Show Tonight.

The Hairdressers' and Cosmeticians' Associations of Missouri opened their annual meeting at Hotel Statler yesterday with about 250 beauty shop owners in attendance. A dinner dance and style show will be held tonight and the sessions will end tomorrow.

Practical demonstrations of every modern phase of beauty culture occupy most of the sessions, some of which are held at the offices of various local supply firms. The latest developments in hair cutting, eye brow tinting, scalp treatments, manicures and the application of cosmetics will be shown.

George Bartholomaeus, director of the division of hairdressing and cosmetology, spoke today on the development of the skill and appliances of the hairdresser and cosmetician.

Among those attending the convention are Mrs. Ruth Maurer of New York and legislative chairman of the American Association of Cosmeticians and Hair Artists, and Mrs. M. B. McGavran of Kansas City, Mo., president of the association.

Much of Advance of Previous Day Lost and Several Issues Decline Into New Low Ground for the Movement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Share prices went into a nose dive in today's stock market, as the abrupt rise of the previous session appeared to have been dependent upon the fuel provided by a brief flurry of short covering.

Much of the wide advance of yesterday was lost, and several issues, including electrical, equipments, oils and coppers, decline into new low ground for the movement. Trading was again light, however, total sales approximating 2,500,000 shares.

Slight rallying tendencies developed in the last hour, and closing quotations were in many cases a point or so from the day's lowest, with some recoveries running to 3 points. United States Steel and American Can closed about 4 lower, and American Telephone, off 2, in each case up about 1 from the bottom. Westinghouse Electric dropped 3 1/2 to a new low for the year, then recovered 2. General Electric dropped about 4 to a new low for the present session, and rallied a point. Standard of New Jersey, declined 3 to a new bottom for the year, and recovered slightly. International Harvester dropped 7, and Allied Chemical 9, only to rebound 3.

Despite the fact that numerous shares sagged below recent resistance points, the fact that many of the pivotal stocks firmly resisted selling pressure in the neighborhood of their recent lows was regarded in brokerage circles as distinctively encouraging. U. S. Steel, after touching 144 1/2, or within 1/2 of the year's low, rallied to close at 145 1/2.

Commodities Steady.
The commodity markets showed marked steadiness, in contrast to stocks. Wheat futures closed up 1/4 to off 1/4 of a cent, in sympathy with Liverpool, despite an increase in the world visible supply. Foreign exchanges also maintained their gains of the previous day satisfactorily. Slight reactions occurred in the German mark and in sterling, but guilders and francs were a shade higher, and pesetas recovered further. The Brazilian milreis, which has been nominally quoted below 10 cents of late, was quoted at 10.80 cents for cables.

Westinghouse Earnings Report.
The drop in Westinghouse was directly attributed to publication of its third quarter earnings statement, showing net for the quarter of $1.12 a share, compared to the quarterly dividend requirement of $1.25. Although better earnings earlier in the year indicate that the year's dividend will be earned, the payment at the regular rate is regarded as assured, the statement was clearly disappointing.

Traders were anxious to see what sort of resistance would develop around the recent low levels before becoming active buyers. Although the feeling is growing that the deflation must now be rather thoroughly completed in many stocks, investors appear to prefer waiting a definite cyclical turn, buying at higher levels at the price of avoiding the possible unpleasantness of seeing their shares sell below the figures paid. Some observers point out that deflation of the high grade issues usually comes at the end of a bear market, just as they are usually the last to turn downward, at the end of a bull movement.

The day's news was not wholly unfavorable, however. The gradual improvement in the cotton mill situation was reported as having progressed further in the past week. The head of International Business Machines said that his company was enjoying its best year. A few earnings statements for the third quarter were regarded as favorable. Chesapeake and Ohio reported net close to that of a year ago. Nickelplate, however, earned only $1.21 a share and the 6 per cent preferred, against $4.96 a share on the common. In the September quarter last year.

The weekly condition statement of reporting Federal Reserve member bank was disappointing to those who had looked for another large drop in loans against securities. A decline of $10,000,000 compared with a drop of $153,000,000 in brokers' loans during the same period, and a drop of $215,000,000 in bank loans against securities in the previous week. Most of the remaining increase in bank loans against securities, over the figures of a year ago, is in New York.

The money market was a little easier, but the demand was negligible. Call money held officially at 2 per cent, while some maturities of time money were reduced 1/4 of one per cent.

Gets Life for Murder of Mother.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 21.—Denounced by the court as "lower than a serpent," Royal S. MacDonald was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment for the murder of his mother last July. Under the persuasion of his sweetheart, Margaret Hundley, over whom he had quarreled with his mother, MacDonald changed his plea from not guilty to nolo contendere and threw himself on the mercy of the court.

RESEARCH BUREAU
IS COUNTY DEFICIT

Declares Judge Wehmeyer's Defense of Administration Does Not Deny Accuracy of Figure.

QUESTIONS DATES
GIVEN BY COURT

Bases Statement on Situation at End of Fiscal Year, Not Immediately After Tax Collections.

The Bureau of Municipal Research, which recently asserted that St. Louis County had an operating deficit of $465,000 on March 15, 1929, reiterated its statement yesterday, declaring that Presiding Judge Wehmeyer of the County Court, in defending the administration, made "no specific denial of the accuracy of the figures contained in our report."

Yesterday's statement also was issued through the Citizens' Metropolitan Committee, which is sponsoring Proposition No. 5, constitutional amendment permitting the consolidation of St. Louis and St.
Louis County under certain stated conditions.

The bureau's report was based upon the annual report of the County Clerk on March 15, 1929, the end of the 1928-29 fiscal year.
Judge Wehmeyer, declaring that it did not show a true picture of county finances, replied that the deficit would be wiped out by the end of this year. He related that there had been a deficit of $202, 902 Jan. 26, 1927, soon after he took office, and that this had been reduced to $172,425 on Jan. 20, 1930.

Matter of Dates.

The reply of the bureau states:
"It will be noted that the dates cited by Judge Wehmeyer do not correspond with the dates upon which the fiscal year ends. Also, the Court does not state the amount of the deficit at the end of the fiscal year nor does he deny the accuracy of any of the figures contained in the bureau's report."

"It must be remembered that the greatest part of the county's revenues come from current taxes, most of which are collected near the end of December, with some delinquencies collected early in January. Therefore, a statement of financial condition made soon after the collection of these taxes, should, logically, show a smaller deficit than one made two and one-half months later."

"The deficits admitted by the court were within three or four weeks after the period of tax collections, whereas the deficits stated in our report were as of the close of the fiscal year, two and one-half months after the tax collecting period."

"If the deficit is to be wiped out at the end of this year, it means that next December's taxes will be used to pay off this year's obligations, that there will be no operating balance, and that the county government will be forced to start accumulating another deficit."

"The Court states that it operates by budget. That is a matter of interpretation. The bureau's statement was, 'There is no budget in St. Louis County as a means of balancing the expenditures with the income.'"

Opponent of Merger Defends Estimate Board's Stand.

Members of the City Board of Estimate and Apportionment who issued a statement declaring that the advantages of a merger of St.
Louis and St. Louis County under Proposition No. 5 would be outweighed by the tax burden on city residents, were defended last night in a radio address over Station KWK by George Barnett, an attorney, of Webster Groves.

Speaking for the Save St. Louis County League, Barnett declared that it was the duty of Mayor Miller, Comptroller Nolte and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, who constitute the board, to give their opinions on matters affecting the finances of the city.

LIFE INSURANCE TRUSTS URGED System Advocated as Protection for Beneficiaries of No Fiscal Experience.

Life insurance trusts to guard against losses due to financial inexperience of beneficiaries were advocated at a dinner meeting for insurance men given by the Boasmen's National Bank trust department last night at the University Club.

The speakers were Tom K.
Smith, president of the bank, and Clinton Davidson, president of the New York Estate Planning Corporation. They said that placing life insurance funds in the hands of a responsible trustee was a logical protective measure, and that policies on deposit with trusttees in this country doubled in 1929, reaching $2,500,000,000 last January.

Application for a writ of prohibition to prevent the Republican City Committee from appointing Justice of the Peace Harry C.
Myers to succeed Nat Goldstein as Nineteenth Ward Committeeman, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Maurice J. Gordon, an attorney, who was defeated at the Aug. 5 election by Goldstein. Goldstein has resigned.

Gordon's petition repeated allegations of his election contest, now pending in Circuit Court. He asserts that the Supreme Court of Missouri has held a committeeman to be an "elected public official," and, consequently, a vacancy may be filled only by appointment by the Governor. Filling of vacancies by the committee has been the practice.

Judge Peary set the case for hearing Oct. 30. All members of the Republican City Committee are named in the action.

CHAMPION BATTALINO LOSES TO ZAZZARINO ON FUL IN THREE ROUNDS

Jersey Batter Has Point Lead When Low Blow Stops Contest

SEVEN ST. LOUIS FIGHTERS TO BOX AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

SEVEN St. Louis fighters were scheduled to meet on a fight card to be held Thursday night in Springfield, Ill. John Schwake, St. Louis heavy, is scheduled to meet Cowboy Owens of Guthrie, Ok., in the 10-round main event. Steve Marre, who got his start in the St. Louis amateur ranks, will box as a professional for the first time on the card, meeting Jack Lorraine of Springfield, at four rounds. Other St. Louis fighters on the program are Pee-wee Terry and John Tomazino, who oppose each other in a four-round bout; Edgar Terry and Pete White, who meet in another four-rounder, and Allen Mathews, who tangles with a fighter called Chief Black Snake, at four rounds.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 21.—Young Zazzarino of Jersey City won on a foul from Battalino of Hartford, Conn., world's featherweight champion, in two minutes of a scheduled 10-round bout featuring the closing of the outdoor season at the Oakland Arena here last night. The title was not involved.

The fans booed lustily when Battalino left the ring, although Referee Danny Sullivan of Newark declared it had been an unintentional low blow. Zazzarino weighed 127½, a pound and a half over the featherweight limit, while the champion scaled an even 126. Zazzarino had a comfortable lead on points when the fight came to its end. The first round was even, but the second and third rounds were won by Zazzarino. It was a fast and furious contest after the first round. There was much slugging in the first round, more bitter exchanges in the second and plenty of action in the abbreviated third.

Zazzarino took the second round by a wide margin, using a series of left hooks and straight rights. He battered Battalino about the ring and was on top of the champion in the third round when Battalino suddenly landed the low blow and dropped him to the canvas.

Zazzarino was in such pain that he was unable to claim the title. Referee Sullivan, however, lost no time in making the correct decision on what was clearly a low blow.

Shea Knocks Out Datto

In Fourth Round of Go.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—Eddie Shea, Chicago battler, moved up a notch last night in his bid for the featherweight title, by knocking out Johnny Datto, Filipino of Cleveland, in the fourth round of the 10-round main event at the arena. Shea scored 12½ and Datto 12½.

A stalling right to the jaw sent Datto down and out less than half a minute after the fourth round began. He lay motionless while the referee counted him out, while Shea, jubilant over winning a bout in a Philadelphia ring, turned a cartwheel and waved his hands to the fans.

Both battlers, among the hardest hitters in the featherweight class, made it a hammer and tongs affair from the beginning. Shea, the stiffer puncher, kept boring in and battered the Filipino to box. Datto, shifty and clever, tried to box his opponent, but Shea wouldn't let him.

Lightweight Division Lacks Good Fighters.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Mighty Rosenbloom's defense of his light heavyweight championship against Able Bain of Newark in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night serves as an excellent proof of the scarcity of first-class 175-pounders at the present time.

Bain is a fair workman, but he does not appear to have a chance against Rosenbloom, a canny veteran who has slugged and roughed his way to victory over most of the good light heavyweights in the last two or three years.

Only a year ago the division was filled with first-class fighting men such as Tommy Loughran, Jimmy Slattery, Leo Lomski, Larry Johnson, Tuffy Griffiths, Jimmy Braddock, Rosenbloom and a host of others. Most of these abandoned the 175-pound class to go after bigger game, none of them with conspicuous success.

The Bain-Rosenbloom bout is at the championship route of 15 rounds. Joe Scalfaro, New York bantam tacksles Pete Santol of Norway in the 10-round semifinal. In the opening 10, Willard Div of Bellingham, Wash., meets Bob Olin, New York heavyweight.

Trojans Play St. Charles.

The Trojan football club, which has not been scored upon in three games, will play the St. Charles Knights of Columbus Sunday afternoon at St. Charles. For games with the Trojans write Paul Sanders, 6201 Arsenal street.

St. Louis Boxer Who Is Winning Matches in East

JOE GHNOULY.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 21.—Joe Ghnouly, St. Louis featherweight, fought Jersey City's leading featherweight, Tommy Dell, last night, winning every round in the semi-final of the Battalino-Zazzarino fight. Ghnouly had his opponent on the verge of a knock-out twice during the fight.

DRAFT LAW IS LIKELY TO CAUSE WAR IN HOCKEY

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Another Chicago hockey star appeared in the offing today.

In a reply yesterday to a statement attributed to President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League, in which the American League was called an outlaw organization, President William P. Grant of the latter group, warned the other circuit to keep "hands off."

Grant said his league's refusal to renew the draft agreement with the National League, caused Calder to make the charge, which he said was unfounded. He said the American League had found it difficult to draft players, but had no intention of tampering with player contracts held by National League clubs.

Grant said the American League had violated no territorial rights by putting a team into Chicago, and warned the National League not to tamper with player contracts held by the Shamrocks, Chicago's entrant in the American League.

The last hockey season, four years ago when the Chicago Cardinals of the American Association sought to vie with the Blackhaws, of the National League. The Cardinals were forced to disband after several players signed with the Blackhaws. Both the Shamrocks and the Blackhaws have arranged to play their home schedules in the Chicago Stadium.

OPERATION PERFORMED TO SAVE LEFT EYE OF SNEAD, YALE HALFBACK

By the Associated Press. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 21.—A delicate operation was performed in a hospital here yesterday to save the left eye of Charlie Snead, Yale halfback, who was hurt in practice and had the injury aggravated in the Maryland game two weeks ago. Dr. Eugene M. Blake, describing the operation as "serious," said last night that his patient was responding favorably and that he believed it would be entirely successful.

While no definite announcement has been made, it is believed that the football days of Snead, the only Yale man ever to win three major Y's as a sophomore, are over. He is a senior.

Besides football, he plays baseball and hockey. His home is in Montclair, N. J.

Dunn to Teach Golf.

Willie Dunn, a former open golf champion, will teach driving, chipping and putting, at the Night and Day Golf Links, Delmar boulevard and De Baliviere avenue, beginning tomorrow.

COAST LEAGUE CLUBS CRIPPLED FOR TITLE PLAY

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21.—The Los Angeles Angels will go in to the coast playoff series here tomorrow against the Hollywood Stars with a crippled infield.

Frank Signafos, hard-hitting second baseman, was said today by trainers to be suffering water on the knee and definitely out of the series. Fred Haney, clouting third baseman, pulled a tendon in his leg and may not play.

The only Hollywood casualty was Mickey Heath, first sacker, whose foot was hit by a foul tip off his own bat.

Seals Get Two Players.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 21.—Acquisition of two right-handed pitchers from the New York Yankees, in connection with the deal that will send Frankie Crosetti, Seal shortstop, to the Yankees in 1932, was announced today by Secretary George A. Putnam of the San Francisco club. The pitchers are Bill Henderson, who finished the season with Oakland, and Sam Gibson, who played with Toronto of the International League this year.

Putnam said the Seals had one more player coming in the deal for Crosetti which involved approximately $100,000 in players and cash.

"INSURGENTS" GAIN COMPLETE CONTROL OF MUNY SOCCER AFFAIRS

CHOOSE A NEW COMMITTEE AND PUT THROUGH 10 AMENDMENTS

By Dent McKimming.

The "insurgent" faction gained complete control of the Municipal Soccer League meeting at Sherman Park Community Center last night, electing a new executive committee and passing 10 amendments to the constitution and by-laws. It was said by the leaders of the group that the team managers were dissatisfied with the way the league had been conducted in the past, especially in the matter of the conduct of annual meetings.

The Chief Changes.

Chief among the changes put through, all of which must be approved by the Municipal Athletic Association Central Council to become effective are the following:

Every team will be limited to two ex-professional players. (This rule will not become effective until next season.)

No executive committee member shall receive remuneration for work done in behalf of the league.

No city employee shall be eligible to the executive committee. The full schedule of 15 games must be completed, even if games must be played on week days.

The "drafting" of players by teams which win their group championships shall be discontinued.

No man shall be appointed "Referee in Chief" unless he has had at least 10 years' experience as a Municipal League referee.

Each group of teams shall consist of four units except where the managers of all teams in the group consent to a larger number.

The new Executive Committee is composed of the following: Rodow Abeken, former Director of Public Recreation; Pete McLaughlin, former professional league player; Bernard Ruthmeyer, manager of the Pils team of the Municipal League; John Scully, manager of the Cook A. C. team; Tommy Lyster was named representative on the Central Council.

No grouping of teams was made last night although it is hoped to start play Sunday. The reason for the delay is that the Department of Recreation found it advisable to form six-team groups whereas the managers objected strenuously to such groups.

Throughout the meeting it was apparent that the element in control among the managers was aiming its thrusts at Director R. W. Tapperson and John Finnegan, former "Referee in Chief."

Thirty-two Teams in League. A meeting of the new Executive Committee will be held probably tomorrow at which time the teams will be definitely assigned to groups. Thirty-two teams were represented at last night's meeting.

The new president is Tom Grimmer, and the new vice president M. Loftus. Beatrice Willecombe is secretary.

BOXER DIES DURING HIS FIRST PRO BOUT: OPPONENT IS FREED

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A charge of homicide was dismissed today against Lawrence Hogan, Negro boxer, whose opponent in a match last night, Carl Baldus, died of heart disease when in the ring.

Mike Hylas, who refereed the match, testified Hogan was five or six feet away when Baldus slumped to the canvas.

Baldus and Hogan were matched in one of the round preliminary and had put up an even battle for two rounds. In the third round, Hogan landed a hard right to the heart that hurt the German, although he was able to raise his gloves in defense. Before another exchange of blows, however, Baldus slumped to the canvas and was counted out by the referee.

Mike Hylas, Unconscious, Baldus was carried to a dressing room and the club physician summoned. After an examination he was pronounced dead. An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of death.

Baldus, who was 25 years old, came to this country three years ago but had never fought professionally until last night.

"Dies From Unknown Cause." MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 21.—Nick Pozega, Deer Lodge boxer, died from an unknown cause, a coroner's jury decided here last night after inquiring into the youth's death during a fight here last Thursday. Eddie Foy, Chicago Negro and Pozega's opponent in the fatal bout, was released from jail. Pozega collapsed in the eighth and final round.

Makes Hole in One. W. E. Finney made a hole-in-one at Crystal Lake when playing in a foursome, composed of Frank Wentura, Richard Shillita, Steve Louis, J. Maloney and Finney. The hole in one was accomplished on the No. 2 hole, a 140-yard pitch shot, over a creek, up a hill to a green well guarded by traps and surrounded by large oaks. Finney's shot hit on the green, took one bounce and landed in the cup. This was the fourth hole in one. The others were made by Harold "Studdy" Ruel, George C. Wolf and William Schroeder.

Undeveloped Teams.

COMPILED of statistics after last Saturday's football games disclosed that just 43 teams in the country still are undefeated. Four of these have won five games and 25 have been successful in four in a row. Only 10 of the 43 have not been scored upon. Among the most important of these undefeated teams are Dartmouth, leading point scorer, with 225; Fordham, Army and Pittsburgh. Some of these will fall out of the select group this Saturday, as Pittsburgh faces Notre Dame, Army plays Yale and Fordham engages New York University. Also Harvard plays Dartmouth, and the Crimson may possibly put over a marker or two on the Big Green eleven.

Horween Is Through.

ARNOLD HORWEEN, head coach at Harvard, already has announced that 1930 will be his last year as football director at Cambridge. His retirement will be a distinct loss to coaching, as he has proven clever in getting the most of the material at hand. His Crimson teams have not been oversuccessful, perhaps, but have been known as hard-fighting, gritty combinations since he has had charge. This year, Harvard has fallen before a fine Army team and Saturday seems due for another defeat at the hands of Dartmouth. A year ago, Harvard won six "big" games, that with Yale, the Army, 20-20, and lost to Dartmouth and Michigan.

Bill Roper, at Princeton, has thus far made no announcement as to his plans for 1931, but football observers seem certain that he, too, will retire.

There is plenty of "grief" in the life of a coach. The alumni can see no reason why every game should not result in victory and there are as many football grandstand coaches as there are managers of the same second-guess variety in baseball.

Horween is a business man during the off season and Roper is a lawyer. There will be no financial sacrifice in giving up coaching on the part of either. And, perhaps during the football season, they'll be able to sleep a night.

What, No Public? MANY a football suggestion comes out of Yale and the latest offered by a member of the class of 1916 is that attendance at football games at New Haven be limited to undergraduates, faculty members and, perhaps, a few invited guests. The suggestion states his belief that Yale, or any other university, has no conceivable duty to amuse and entertain the public. He adds that such a move would come most appropriately when it is no longer necessary to run football as a huge money-making business. He does not say when this millennium will arrive and neglects to state what would become of all the other college sports if the football revenue which makes possible these ambitious programs no longer is forthcoming.

Henry's Explanation. SPEAKING in New York recently, Coach Gwynn Henry of the University of Missouri was quoted as saying that high school football in Missouri is at a low ebb and that coaches of high schools in the State were poorly paid and usually teachers from other departments. The quotation continues with statements that Missouri football is not up to modern football methods and that a squad of 35 in the East is a better proposition for a coach than one of 150 in Missouri because of these facts. The Missouri coach may have been misguided. If not, it is rather remarkable that it has taken him quite a few years to make this discovery, the discovery coming in the year when the Tigers, beaten in their first three games, have failed to score a single point.

Kansas Is Strong. BIG SIX observers are already handling the conference championship to Kansas University. And with plenty of reason. The Jayhawkers have done everything asked of them this season. In defeating the Kansas Aggies last week, Kansas won its nineteenth victory over the Aggies, who have won six and lost three of the 28 games. In these games, Kansas U. has scored 378 points to the 122 gathered by the Aggies.

CHICAGO U. PREPARES TO BUILD FIELD HOUSE AT COST OF $500,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A new field house, for which University of Chicago Alumni and students have waited so long, today was a little nearer realization when workmen started razing a group of apartment buildings on the site where the sports building is to arise.

The plans call for a building costing more than $500,000, and actual construction work is expected to start early next year.

TABLERS TRADE THREE PLAYERS FOR JOE HAND

Johnny Marre, manager of the Tablers, leaders in the St. Louis Soccer League, announced today that he had traded Fullback McGirl, Halfback Phelan and Forward Joe Hennessy to Phil Kavanaugh's Coca-Cola for Fullback Joe Hand.

Hand is a veteran player and recognized as one of the best fullbacks in this or any other section. Marre felt that Hand's experience would help the younger star, Dorley, to make a first-class defensive combination.

Phil Kavanaugh, without a victory thus far, decided he could spare Hand to get the three tried players in exchange.

BOWLING NOTES

The 49th States totaled 2739, but lost the odd game to the Green Sheets in the weekly round of the Newspaper League on Peterson's Alleys last night. The States won the opening game by 145 pins but dropped the following two by counts of 58 and 61 pins respectively. Wessling, who is leading the league in average, paced the bowlers with a series of 459 which included a single game of 235. Bruns hit 613 for the Green Sheets.

Piesbergen, rolling with the Agates, hit the only other 600 series registered in the Newspaper League, shooting 622. His team won three games from the Sport Specialists, who had an off night, rolling only 2533. In the other matches the Bungles took the odd game from the Orange Sheets and the Intertypes won two from the Andy Gumps. Frank Short hit 499 to lead the Bungles, while Miller's 551 was best for the Orange Sheets. Mattern 538 and Christman 564 were high in the Intertypes-Gump match.

The Dieckmans took undisputed possession of first place in the Peterson Handicap League on Charley Peterson's Alleys by winning three games from the Efficients, while the Schroeders were dropping the odd game to the Kris Kross five. The latter team totaled 2739 to lead the eight teams. The Petersons took two from the Franklins and the Hips won three from the Ramseys in the other matches. The team leaders were: S. Glimpse 576, Schanburg 596, Hill 551, Benzen 574, Kuchenbuck 546, Bachlund 552, Pieper 553, Hearle 567 and Lippmann 524.

The Publicity team moved to within two games of the league-leading Credits by taking the odd game from them in the Nugents League on the Washington Alleys. The Credits now have a league record of 14 games won and 2 lost, while the Publicity team has won 12 games while losing 3. The Delivery five kept pace by winning two games from the Wellstons. In the other matches the Basements whitewashed the Office team and the Clothing team scored a two-game victory over the Uptowns.

Results in the Meletio Sea Food League on the Fruit and Produce alleys were as follows: Crabs 2, Lobsters 1; Crawfish 2, Shrimps 1. The high scorers were: Eisenhart 565, T. Sansone 492, McGary 550 and J. Mullen 547. In the Produce Handicap League the Bensetts won two from the Sansones and the Lincks took two from the Produce five. C. Calto 542, J. Horan 509 and Schuff 508 were high.

Lack of Diamond Stars. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—According to scouts in the big leagues there are fewer good young baseball players in the United States today than ever before.

Oklahoma Aggies To Use Stars in Game With Bears

By the Associated Press. STILLWATER, Ok., Oct. 21.—With all the alling veterans back in condition, the Oklahoma Aggies started intensive drill today for their conference battle with Washington U. this week-end. Capt. Baker, Fisher and Pickett reported yesterday for the first time in a week.

DES MOINES, Ia.—Defensive practice against Missouri plays as demonstrated by the Drake Bull Pups was the keynote of the Drake practice today, as Coach Oestre Solem drove his gridders for the important Missouri game this week-end. Drake has not beaten Missouri for several years, but is confident that it can turn the trick this season.

OMAHA, Neb.—The Worthington-Clancy passing combination was given further attention today by Coach Art Stark in the Creighton University football camp. The Bluejays scored their lone touchdown against Marquette by the aerial route and the Creighton coach is working on variations to the attack, with Worthington and Clancy the principal factors in the strategy. The Bluejays meet the Haskell Indians here Saturday.

GRINNELL, Ia.—Carleton College is the next opponent for the Pioneers of Grinnell, who are seeking their first victory of the season. Blito, regular end, injured his leg in the Drake game and will be out of practice for three weeks. The rest of the squad was in good condition yesterday as Coach Fuzz began practice for the Carls with a light signal drill.

GARAFALO ROLLS 724 TOTAL IN PIN MATCH

The International Greyhounds retained first place in the Wellston Scratch League by winning the odd game from the Brenmans on the Wellston Recreation alleys last night. The Schneiders crept a game nearer the leaders by making a clean sweep of their three-game series with the Zappala Specials.

Ray Ziegler, who is giving Garafalo a merry chase for the high average leadership in the league, rolled another tidy total, getting 655 for the Greyhounds. Meyers of the Packs got a 651 total. C. Fritz rolled 671, Bucher got 669, Van Behren 621 and Ollie Harris 606.

Greyhounds ..... 17
Schneiders ..... 13
Brenmans ..... 10
Wellstons ..... 10
Arcades ..... 9
Tom Packs ..... 8

Quintero Beats Myers. By the Associated Press. SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 21.—Manuel Quintero, Tampa, Fla., took a close decision over Spug Myers, Pocatello, Idaho, in a 10-round bout here last night. Quintero won the first round, lost the next two, took the fourth, lost the fifth, sixth and seventh, and finished strong to take the last three sessions and the decision. Quintero weighed 147 and Myers 149.

Eddie Casey Slated To Succeed Horween As Harvard Coach

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—Eddie Casey may succeed Arnold Horween as Harvard football coach, but official confirmation of reports to that effect was lacking today.

It was reported that Casey, who at present is backfield coach under Horween, who announced his resignation effective at the end of the season, will be in full charge of the coaching staff when football practice gets under way next year.

CONVICT TESTIFIES IN INQUIRY INTO NEW YORK CITY JUDGES

Told Grand Jury Last February That George F. Ewald Was "Unapproachable."

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Joseph Wolfman, a Sing Sing convict, was brought here today and questioned for two hours by Referee Samuel Seabury and Special Counsel Kresel in the Appellate Court's investigation of Manhattan and Bronx magistrates' courts.

The testimony was not disclosed, but it was recalled that Wolfman, sent to prison for impersonating a lawyer, testified before a special grand jury last February concerning a charge that a ring of clerks, lawyers, bondsmen and "fixers" controlled the Magistrates and their courts.

Wolfman told the grand jury at the time that he regarded only five magistrates as "unapproachable." One of those he named was former Magistrate George F. Ewald, who has since been indicted for mail fraud and buying his appointment.

LEAPS IN PARACHUTE, MISSING

BROWN MILLS, N. J., Oct. 21.—Search was being continued today for an aviator seen floating to earth in a parachute between here and New Egypt by State troopers yesterday. The flyer was thought to have landed in the trackless wilderness of the pine belt.

The region consists of fine woods filled with underbrush and treacherous bogs. State police said the aviator would have little chance of getting out if he fell in any of the large bogs in the region. Guiding their steps with flashlights and huge flare torches, farmers, led by the police, searched throughout the night. No report has been received of a disabled airplane landing anywhere in the vicinity.

Killing Frost in Virginia.
RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 21.—Killing frost was followed by snow flurries in the Virginia Mountains today. There was a light frost throughout the state and the State and the Weather Bureau is issuing a warning today of a heavy frost if the weather clears by night.

MEXICO TO HELP U. S. ROOT OUT COMMUNISM

President Ortiz Rubio Confirms Delivery of Papers Which Washington Denied.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—Mexican authorities are ready to co-operate with the United States to stamp out Communist activities on both sides of the Rio Grande. This was made known here last night by President Ortiz Rubio in an interview with the press.

He confirmed reports that his Government had turned over to the United States copies of documents seized several weeks ago from an alleged Communist agent. Artiz Rubio said delivery of the documents was made as a result of an official request from Washington.

He said the Mexican Ambassador at Washington delivered them to the State Department. Reports that such documents had been delivered have been denied in Washington.

All the data in the possession of the Mexican authorities will be made available to the Congressional Committee headed by Representative Hamilton Fish, which has been investigating Red activities in the United States, Ortiz Rubio stated.

The documents referred to were taken from Mark Lupinsky who came to Mexico two months ago as representative of the Amtorg Trading Co. of New York. On his arrival in Mexico City he was detained in his hotel and his documents taken from him and translated. They were in Russian and English. The United States State Department, through Ambassador Morrow, intervened in his behalf. He was then taken to the border and released. At that time, the United States embassy here asked for the evidence on which police had acted in detaining Lupinsky.

"It's a serious question, Communism, very serious," he continued. "The Communist cause is humane in its aspirations, but Communist methods are all wrong."

Ortiz Rubio took occasion to forecast that the Mexican Congress would ratify the agreement for liquidation of Mexico's foreign debt drafted by Finance Minister Montes de Oca.

Gain in Oklahoma Cotton.

By the Associated Press.

"Of course you're tired. I used to walk to the stores too, but not any more. I don't pay one cent more for groceries than you do, often less, and it certainly saves time shopping by telephone."

"And I'll tell you, with conditions as they are, the $2.00 in cash or $2.50 in merchandise a filled Eagle Stamp Book brings, is mighty welcome, especially when one doesn't sacrifice anything to get it."

"There's the delivery boy now—you can see for yourself how much I save by buying at an Eagle Stamp Store."

The Dream of the Rising Sale Line

Putting into the home office or branch staff the determination to restore that upward sales line may not be accomplished easily, but a well selected staff of salesmen will get increased orders when they get enthusiasm. Good managers or good men are found through the Post-Dispatch Help Wanted Columns. Post-Dispatch Help Wanted ads are read by men who are sales promoters looking for openings in which to make good.

New and automatic!

"American Beauty" adjustable automatic electric iron The best iron made

The new AMERICAN BEAUTY electric iron gives you any heat you want... and keeps it for you until you're ready for another heat.

That means you can iron those thin pieces, like ready-made, and silk slips, without danger of scorching. Just turn the switch for "low" heat, that's all. To iron medium weight clothes, use "medium" heat. The heavy pieces take "high" heat. Isn't it simple?

And the new AMERICAN BEAUTY Automatic has more "beauty" than ever! It's finished in flashing nickel, with a rich yellow handle, and deep red, protecting finger grips on the connecting plug.

A mighty dependable, cheery iron to own!

DIVIDEND DECLARATIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Directors of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co. today placed the Class A common stock on a $2 annual dividend basis by declaring an initial quarterly payment of 50 cents, payable Dec. 1 to holders of record Nov. 10. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the preferred was declared payable on the same date to holders of record Nov. 10.

The Board of Directors of Administrative and Research Corporation, sponsors of corporate trust shares, announced today that it has increased the regular cash dividend rate on administrative and research Class A stock from 50 cents to $1 per year, payable quarterly. The corporation also declared an extra cash dividend of 10 cents a share payable Dec. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

The Bigelow Sanford Carpet Co. has omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock due at this time.

Directors of the North Central Texas Oil Co. have omitted the quarterly dividend of 15 cents due on the common at this time. A statement by the company said that inasmuch as a total of 45 cents a share had been paid to date this year, directors after due consideration of the fact that estimated profits from oil for the current year will be sustained to approximately 50 cents a share, have deemed it advisable to omit any further dividend payments on the common stock for the balance of the year.

Director of National Pumps Corporation have omitted the quarterly dividend of 7 1/2 cents due on the common at this time.

Pure Oil Co. directors omitted the quarterly dividend of 3 1/2 cents on the common stock due at this time. The regular quarterly dividends of $1.25 on the 6 1/2 percent preferred and $2 on the 8 percent preferred were authorized, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 10.

FURNITURE DEALER GAGGED, BOUNDED AND ROBBED OF $75
Attacked by two Negroes in Secondhand Store at 2333 Easton Avenue.
Vernon Anderson, secondhand furniture dealer at 2333 Easton avenue, was robbed of $75 last night by two Negroes who gagged him in his shop with an old shirt and bound his hands behind his back with a necktie.

Samuel Bernstein, 1404 Granville place, was robbed of $70 by three men in an automobile at the door of his garage last night.
Three watches and $12.50 in gold pieces were taken by a Negro, who threw a brick through the plate-glass window of the pawn shop of Harry Pearlman, 1413 Market street.

GUESTS FOR WEDDING OF BORIS ANNOUNCED

Confined Largely to Two Royal Families — Few Commoners Invited.

By the Associated Press.
ASSISI, Italy, Oct. 21. — Two reigning Kings, Boris and Victor Emanuel, one reigning Queen, Elena, one Queen-to-be, Giovanna, and one former Queen, Sophie of Greece, will gather in St. Francis city for the wedding of Princess Giovanna and Boris Saturday morning. In addition there will be present no less than 35 princes and princesses of the blood.
All of those of the House of Savoy with their consorts will be present except the Prince of Uni-dine who is representing the King at the Abyssinian coronation, and the Duke of Spoleto, who is still convalescent after a motor boat accident at Venice recently.
This is in marked contrast to the wedding of Crown Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose of the Belgians last January where the number of former monarchs exceeded those actually reigning.
The reason for this is that Giovan-na's wedding is considered more of a family affair than the marriage of the heir to the throne, and the speed with which arrangements are being completed and the smallness of the hill top on which the wedding will take place precluded more being asked.
The Greek former royal family will be well represented. Prince Christopher, former husband of Mrs. William B. Leeds, will be there with his second wife, who was born Princess Françoise of France, daughter of the pretender, the Duke of Guise, and the Princesses Catherine, Maria and Irene.
There will be few commoners present, but among them there will be an English girl, Miss Brown, a personal friend of Giovanna, and two nuns, Sisters Barbara and Maria Gabrielle.
Relatives of Giovanna's mother who have been invited include the Prince and Princess Romanoff of Russia, the Princess Petrovitch, and the Princess Helen of Russia.
The Princess of Battenberg and many of the Italian nobility complete the roster of those who will be present.

A PIECE —OF— HER MIND

By ELSIE McCORMICK

A NEW HOBBY

IT IS difficult these days to get very far without a hobby.

Formerly the only people who had to worry about cultivating them were actresses, writers and millionaires in danger of being killed. Today, with the advent of the radio, the hobby of listening to the radio has become a necessity for the average person.

The man without a hobby is more or less under suspicion; psychology experts look at him, and the clergy who hold Sunday-night forums tell him that he is missing the larger life.

In fact, not having a hobby produces a new form of inferiority complex, which will be named as soon as Vienna can take its mind off the activities of the Steel Helmet Association.

For a long time I, too, was one of the people who had to think that when quietness was made on this important subject. One can't get by, I find, by saying that one is interested in practically everything.

At last, however, I have found an escape from this humiliating condition. An evening spent recently at the Amateur Astronomers' Association remade my young career and gave me a hobby which deals with such peculiarly durable materials that it ought to last for practically a lifetime.

At least there is no danger of date with the same finality as mah-jongg and burning Gibson girls on wood.

I had my first telescopic glimpse of the moon that evening. Its sheen was all gone; I found it a half-shaded globe of chalky whiteness, with mountains and craters that looked like celestial baronies.

While the moon might have been a little disappointing, the lecture given by O. H. Caldwell, editor of Electronics and former Federal Radio Commissioner, went far beyond my rapid expectations. Before it was over I was afloat in eons of time, drifting among the countless suns that make up the Milky Way.

I also learned some rather interesting things about radio. A radio wave goes around the earth in one-seventh of a second, and can reach the moon in a second and a half. Listeners on Mars must wait four minutes for their programs, and it is a full eight minutes before the words of Amos 'n' Andy strike against the flaming valleys of the sun.

The journey to the fixed stars is very much longer. Four years are required for a radio wave from the earth to reach Alpha Centauri, the nearest fixed star; some 950,000 years must pass before a program arrives at the Andromeda Nebula, an island universe on the far outposts of the heavens.

While most waves are turned back by a high blanket of ionized air, some depart through holes in the roof for this long heavenly journey. I find it rather upsetting to think that every tooth paste hour is still traveling on in space and will continue to do so through uncounted eons.

By the time the first jazz numbers reach the august cluster known as the Andromeda Nebula, the earth that sent them may have become an empty, lifeless mass of ice.

During the next few years, according to Mr. Caldwell, radio reception will be extremely good. This prediction is based on the fact that the sun spots will be unusually small, a phenomenon that takes place about every 11 years.

Craters on the sun disturb radio reception and make custard recipes and coloratura more difficult to hear. There are many evenings, however, when I am tempted to form a League for the Encouragement of Bigger and Better Sun Spots.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the evening was a discussion of the cosmic rays, recently discovered by Dr. Millikan. There is now a theory that these powerful rays, beating down on us out of space, are the cause of the physical deterioration that comes with old age.

There is little hope at present that man can hide from the deadly arrows that are showered at him from the skies. No cave is deep enough to protect him; no metal he knows is able to deflect their strength. The cosmic rays can go through 60 feet of lead and penetrate 200 feet of water.

Eventually, perhaps, science will find a way to insulate man against this mortal enemy. Then, if the theory be true, the human race can walk perpetually in the beauty of youth, and look forward with hope to a chance of unending life.

It is also thought that the cosmic rays may be responsible for evolution. Even radio waves will cause a change in the plants constantly exposed to them. While I can't vouch for their influence on plants, I know that they can produce notable changes in dispositions.

New School to Revive The Recreative Crafts

St. Louisans Establish Studio Where Artistic Objects May Be Made by Pupils.

By FAY PROFILET.

INSPIRED by the belief that people are harking back to a less feverish period when living was a graceful art and home makers prided themselves on their handicraft, two young women have opened a school and studio, The Workbench, which is to be devoted to the pursuit of the recreative arts and crafts.

The Workbench is a realized dream of Miss C. Genevieve Lawler and Miss Mary Ruth Lionberger, who have founded a school which affords the opportunity for work in the various crafts, according to the student's ability, interests and experience. Miss Lawler, for the past seven years, has taught crafts and the history of art at Mary Institute, where Miss Lionberger, daughter of Isaac H. Lionberger, 37 Westmoreland place, has been her assistant for three years.

"People are going back to the more graceful type of living and the domestic arts formerly considered accomplishments in women are again being revived. Almost everyone has the desire to create artistic objects and we have simply provided them with a workbench and will give instruction and advice in developing individual creative talent," said Miss Lawler.

"This urge to produce work such as our studio offers," she continued, "is an outward sign of an inward grace, and while it is interesting to make useful and ornamental things for the home, the average house is not equipped for the purpose."

There is no set course, the pupils may even enjoy studio privileges without instruction, at the same time choosing the medium which most interests them.

The Workbench occupies a section in the lower floor of the Cabanne Arcade Building, a popular rendezvous for the younger dancing set for the past two decades. As its name implies, a large room is outfitted with the latest equipment for work in metal, textile, pottery and wood.

There are long tables lighted by black and silver illuminators that diffuse a light so that there is no shadow over the work. The zinc and marble-topped tables with the potter's wheel and the large kiln close by seem to attract the greatest number of pupils.

"POTTERY is the craft that requires the fewest tools," explained Miss Lionberger, the instructor in crafts, "and is most fascinating because it is almost the only thing in which we practically make something for nothing. The forms are simple and make one sensitive to line, and the pupils seem to find great pleasure in working out designs. The mothers of the children like this medium because it furnishes something useful and attractive for the house."

A class of young people working in pottery seemed deeply interested in making pottery plates, which are to be followed in turn by bowls, boxes, candle-holders and other pottery pieces, again in vogue. A flat sheet of britannia metal is given to the pupils, which they beat into shape with small hammers covered in leather, either over a mold or a stake. The blow torch is then brought into play for the soldering, after which the student engraves the reed around the edge and the initials and monogram marking the article. The piece is carefully polished as the final touch. In the basement was the lathe for spinning pottery, making the articles by the old method whereby soldering is entirely eliminated.

A group engaged in the making of jewelry next showed us their pins and rings, which are started with a flat piece of silver. With tiny saws they shape the jewelry, after which they beat it on the dapping block for repoussé work. The bezel, which sounded so difficult and mysterious, proved to be merely a narrow strip of silver soldered onto the pin or ring and pushed down over the stones with a burnisher. Bracelets and chains will be made after the pins and rings are completed.

SPECIALLY constructed stoves are installed to keep the wax at a low temperature for the work in bakelite, recently discovered by Dr. Millikan. There is now a theory that these powerful rays, beating down on us out of space, are the cause of the physical deterioration that comes with old age.

There is little hope at present that man can hide from the deadly arrows that are showered at him from the skies. No cave is deep enough to protect him; no metal he knows is able to deflect their strength. The cosmic rays can go through 60 feet of lead and penetrate 200 feet of water.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Upset Canoe.

"I've only turned the time back a few years this evening," the Little Black Clock said.

"Yes," he repeated, "I've only turned it back a few years—to an October afternoon when a boy and a girl were canoeing."

"They were both a little older than you two, but they were very young as you'll see."

"They were brother and sister, too, and you're going to see them out in their canoe which they love so much."

The Little Black Clock led them to the shore of the lake. It looked chilly and like the late fall, and a high wind was blowing, and squalls were playing about on the water of the lake.

After a little while the children saw a green canoe coming around a bend of the shore and now making straight toward the middle of the lake.

"They're going to paddle against the wind," said the Clock as they all watched the canoe from the shore, "for if they didn't do this they would upset in a minute."

Now the wind blew harder and harder and the waves grew higher and higher.

The canoe was out in the middle of the lake now.

Suddenly a gust of wind came from one direction and a squall from another and in a flash it upset the canoe.

"Oh, what are they going to do now?" John asked. "Can they swim?"

"There isn't a boat anywhere around. They are so far from shore, too."

"What are we going to do?" "We'll have to get a boat out of one of these closed-up boat-houses," said the Little Black Clock.

"We must hurry. Come! Work quickly!"

Laundry Suggestions

When washing woolen articles be sure and rinse them thoroughly to remove all soap, for soap makes greasy spots.

Soak silk undies about 10 minutes before washing in lukewarm water, then wash rapidly in lukewarm water and rinse thoroughly in at least two waters of the same temperature. If much soiled use soapy water, but never rub soap directly on silk when washing it.

Woolens will not shrink if hung on the line dripping wet and a fairly strong wind will help.

Escapes

WHEN, for one reason or another, children find life too hard, they develop what psychologists call "escapes" from reality. That is, they shut out unpleasant facts by running away from them, or by pretending that things are as they wish them to be.

Perhaps the most familiar form of escape in young children is in the invention of imaginary people.

The lonely child invents an ideal playmate. The child who is jealous or who is subjected to frequent harsh punishment invents a scapegoat individual on whom he may vent his own suppressed wishes to inflict pain and to fight back.

Children who have difficulty in social adjustments, or who are troubled by feelings of inferiority which make them afraid to compete in sports, often take refuge in books.

In identifying themselves with the heroes of whom they read, they enjoy without the risk and struggle, all the satisfactions which they are afraid to pursue in real life.

Of course, the make-believe of all normal play is in itself a form of escape from the limitations of being a child in a world of grownups.

In so far as escapes make the ordinary hardships of childhood more bearable, they act as a safety valve, but when they form an increasingly large share of the child's play life, they are to be regarded as a symptom of maladjustment and unhappiness.

The cure lies not in removing from his life the satisfactions of fantasy, but in making reality easier for him to cope with and more interesting.

Such a child needs especially relief from whatever emotional strain may exist in connection with family relationships.

Friendly Criticism

WOULD you please settle this dispute for us? Mr. A says that it is not proper for a friend to criticize his manner of dress. Mr. B says that it is his duty as a friend to correct the error. Which is correct?

— ANXIOUS.

Mr. A is correct. Unless a friend is given this privilege of criticism he has no right to assume it.

There are subtle ways of suggesting things of this kind that are very effective, and these, used tactfully, are to be recommended rather than the blunt method of direct criticism.

Place a heavy rug or several thicknesses of old carpet or bur-lap at the foot of the cellar stairs as a warning that the bottom has been reached. This is safer than painting the last step white, as often the cellar is too dark to see the white step, whereas one can always feel when he steps on the carpet.

Blames Nell Gwynne
For London Cockney
G. T. BLANDFORD, Cambridge University authority on pronunciation of English, sees Nell Gwynne as the source of the famous London cockney accent.

King Charles II used to stay for long days and weeks at a time with the famous ex-actor girl; her country home near Newport, explains Mr. Blandford, and the royal retinue, to what away the time, would walk about the village and mock the accent of the country folk.

From Newport, he said, they carried this dialect back to London, where it mingled with their own more correct speech and descended, through servants, to the illiterate of a day, who preserved it for the costermongers of the present.

Devilled Oysters.

Chop 25 oysters finely and season with red pepper and salt. Blend together one tablespoon each of butter and flour and cook with one cup of half milk and half oyster juice and a pinch of soda until smooth. Add one beaten egg and the chopped oysters. Butter oyster shells and fill each one with the mixture, sprinkling each with crumbs. Bake in the oven until lightly browned.

SOCIETY women have turned to polo.

Two regularly organized teams, headed by Mrs. Cornelia Vanderbilt Cecil, have been formed at Asheville, N. C., said by the United States Polo Association to be the only teams of their kind.

Fifty equipped with brightly colored uniforms, the teams have played regular week-end matches during the summer, with practice games in between.

Mrs. Cecil, only child of the late George W. Vanderbilt, is now in Europe, but plans to return early this fall to devote much time to organizing society women for polo in Southern resort cities.

A new field is to be built in Asheville, since the polo enthusiasts plan to make the game a permanent form of recreation here. The only available field is now on Billars estate, home of Mrs. Cecil.

In addition to Mrs. Cecil, the Asheville teams contain the names of Betty Martin of Washington, Barbara Leovy, Betty Williams and Pamela Robinson of New Orleans; Anne Brook, New York City; Lucille Yancey, Memphis, N. H.; Peggy Morgan, Jane Raul and Flossie Cox of Asheville.

"Folks, meet the Can-Opening Bride"

shouted Bill

Even though he was my brother, I could have scratched him then and there. But ten days later, I made him eat his words.

GEORGE and I had just gotten back from a glorious three-weeks' honeymoon. That night, our crowd had gotten together to welcome us at Mary Eaton's. But the minute we entered the house, Bill let out a yell. "Folks, meet the Can-Opening Bride," he shouted. And of course everybody roared.

That is, everybody but George—and me. Right then and there, I made up my mind to settle that score with Bill—in front of these same people, and just as soon as I possibly could.

Ten days later, I had my chance. The same crowd was together again—this time at the darling little bungalow George had fixed up for me.

When eleven o'clock came and they all sat down to eat, I heard Bill's stage-whisper to the girl on his right—"Watch your step, Dorothy... here come the Bride's Biscuits."

Then, with a martyred look, he picked one up, broke it, and spread a little butter on it. But with his first bite, you should have seen his face!

"Why, Sis, these are good," he said. "Where on earth did you learn to bake?" Of course, I didn't tell him about Jenny Wren. And I know Mary won't, at least for a long time to come.

But I don't mind telling you it was Jenny Wren that made my biscuits so light and fluffy... that made my pies so tender and flaky... that made my waffles so crisp and golden.

Really, you'll be surprised how easy it is to bake marvelous cakes and pastries with Jenny Wren. There are no hard-to-mix dry ingredients to add... no baking powder, no salt, no soda, no yeast... no leavening agent of any kind.

These are all blended into Jenny Wren in the exact proportions necessary for perfect results. Consequently, there's no chance of inaccurate measurements or omissions. It's just one—two—three... and the work's all done. Get a package of Jenny Wren from your grocer and see for yourself. You'll be amazed and delighted.

THE SCARAB MURDER CASE —SS VANDINE—

CHAPTER XXVI.

"Did you know that opium was kept in the cabinet upstairs?"
"I wasn't aware of it," she replied listlessly; "though I'm not surprised."
"Did Mr. Salveter know of it?"
"Oh, undoubtedly—it was actually there. He and Mr. Scarlett were in charge of the medical supplies."

Vance shot her a quick look.
"Although Hani would not admit it," he said, "I am pretty sure in Mr. Salveter's room."
"Yes?" (I could not help feeling that she rather expected this. Certainly, it was no surprise.)
"On the other hand," pursued Vance, "it might have been found in Hani's room."

"Impossible! It couldn't have been in my room!" She flared up. "I am meeting Vance's steady and abiding. That is, I don't see how it could be possible," she ended weakly.
"I'm probably wrong," Vance admitted. "But tell me, Mrs. Hani, did you return to the breakfast room this morning for your cup of coffee, after you and Mr. Salveter had gone up?"
"Yes." She took a deep breath. "Yes. . . . Was there any crime in that?"
"Did you meet Hani there?"
"After a brief hesitation she answered."
"No. He was in his room—ill. I went him his coffee."

Heath granted disgruntledly.
"A lot were finding out," he growled.
"Quite right, Sergeant," Vance agreed pleasantly. "An amazing amount. Mrs. Bliss is helping us, and she's turned to the woman again. 'You know, of course, who killed Mr. Kyle?' he asked blandly."

"Yes. . . . I know!" The words were spoken with impulsive emotion.
"And you also know why he was ill?"
"I know that, too." A sudden change had come over her. A strange combination of fear and alarm possessed her; and the more bitterness of her attitude seemed to grow.

HEATH let forth a queer, inarticulate exclamation.
"You tell us who it was," he demanded vindictively, shaking his hand in her face, "or I'll arrest you on a charge of accessory, or as a material witness."
"But, Sergeant!" Vance rose and placed his hand pacifically on the other's shoulder. "Why be so impatient? It wouldn't do you to be so impatient. . . . And, if we see, she may be wholly wrong in her diagnosis of the case."

Markham projected himself into the room.
"Have you any definite reasons for your opinion, Mrs. Bliss?" he asked. "Have you any specific evidence against the murderer?"
"Not much evidence," she answered simply. "But—but. . . ."
"He was ill, and her head ached," he said.
"You left the house about 9 o'clock this morning, I believe," Vance said, voice seemed to steady her.
"Yes—shortly after breakfast."

"Sleeping?"
"I took a taxi at Fourth avenue and uptown. I didn't see what I knew, and walked to the house. I went to Mr. Wren's, and later returned to Lord and Taylor. Then I went to Saks. He finally dropped in at a little place on Madison avenue. . . ."
"The usual routine," sighed Vance, "of a house bought for a fortune."

"I entered a hat on Madison avenue," Vance caught Vance's eye and nodded significantly. "I think that will be all for the present," Mrs. Bliss said. "You will kindly go to your room and wait there."

Vance walked to the window and looked out into the street. He was ill, and deeply distressed as a result of the interview. He opened the window, and the summer noises of the city drifted into his ears. He stood for a moment in silence, and then he looked at his watch. It was 11:30. He looked at his watch. It was 11:30. He looked at his watch. It was 11:30.

"And that is taken as another sign of the doctor's guilt?" He shook his head hopelessly. "Is it possible that you regard such a childish attempt of escape as incriminating?"
"I say, Sergeant, mightn't that come under the head of panic on the part of an impractical scientist?"

"SURE it might," Heath laughed unpleasantly. "All crooks and killers get scared and try to make a getaway. But it doesn't prove their ill-white innocence."
"Still, Sergeant," Vance's voice was discouraged—"a murderer who accidentally left clues on every hand pointing directly to himself and then indulged in this final stupid folly of trying to escape would not be exactly bright. And, I assure you, Dr. Bliss is neither an

The Foundry Worker Who Became a Picture Star

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15. TEMPERAMENTAL old lady Fate took a life and threw it into her mixing bowl. Then she stirred in checkers boards of experience, all manner of ups and downs and leavened the mass with a destiny carefully concealed by many disguises.

The result eventually became Jack Mulhall, stage and talkie star, whose career might require several men to embrace. Mulhall, by reason of experience, has the physique of an athlete, the muscles of an iron foundry worker, the wit of a side-show "barker," the endurance of a six-show-a-day vaudeville performer, the nerves of a cow-puncher, the sophistication of a globe-trotter, the polish of a finished, stage star and the voice of a professional singer.

Jack, born to modest circumstances in New York City, shook hands with hoary-handed labor at an early age, through the medium of a pick and shovel. He learned two things on his first job—to sympathetically appreciate his laboring father, and that blisters on the hand do not mean dollars in the pocket.

He sought something less menial and more remunerative. He found a job in a drug store. The future seemed grand. All he had to do was janitor work in the mornings and deliver orders the remaining hours of the day. Between times, the generous druggist explained, he could study the apothecary art.

After two days Jack had not yet seen enough of the store to distinguish the front from the back. He was continually breathless from running errands. However, the druggist decided he was sufficiently durable to handle the shop during the noon hour.

A TOOTHACHE, which was not Jack's, put a temporary halt to his white collar career. During the very first hour of the druggist's absence a gentleman entered. Amid much growling he ordered some tooth wax.

Jack attacked the problem with youthful enthusiasm. It was his first big chance to make good. Unfortunately, he used more enthusiasm than judgment. He gave the customer ear wax instead of tooth wax. His blunder climaxed in a heated argument between the druggist and the raging customer. It seemed that the customer detested the taste of ear wax.

Jack, without saying a single word, was talked out of his job. His reaction was decidedly normal. He went away from there nursing an ambition to punch someone on the nose, particularly a gentleman who was too particular about what he put into his impetuous nor a lunatic. "Them's mere words," Mr. Vance declared the Sergeant doggedly. "This bird made a couple mistakes and, seeing he was caught, tried to get out the country. And, I'm here to tell you, that's running true to form."

"Oh, my aunt—my precious, dodderin' aunt!" Vance sank into a large chair and let his head fall back wearily against the lace antimacassar.

LES POUDRES
COTY
Add still greater charm to the loveliest faces.
TWELVE SHADES ONE DOLLAR

Drug Clerk, Side-Show Barker, Mill Laborer and Blues Singer, Jack Mulhall Finally Turned to the Movies and Made His Fortune.

He sailed in style. He gave Europe the double "O" also in style.

When he decided to settle down to dramatic study, he had nothing left but style.

Instructors demanded money. There was nothing left for Jack but to hit for home. He crawled into the bowels of a ship and stoked for his passage.

He emerged from the vessel on a brand-new checkered board of fate. He became a "Little Tommy" Tucker, singing for his supper, in a roadhouse.

In this line of endeavor he advanced to the point where some proprietors threw in breakfast, lunch and a little extra cash for good measure.

A friend advised him to tackle the stage.

"Advice is cheap," said Jack. "What can you do about it?"

THE friend introduced him to Ned Wayburn, who gave him a part as a juvenile heavy.

Jack scored an instantaneous hit. His five feet, 11 inches of sturdy stature built by manual labor, raven-black hair and his big blue eyes, together with natural dramatic talent, brought in fan mail by the bale. Overnight he reached the top. His services were in demand as a juvenile lead.

But, he was still on the checkered board—the fame was just getting started.

Rex had the movie bug. Jack contracted it.

Together they tackled the Edison studio in New York. For Edison Jack did as the old boys on the lot. He was one of the "wolves" in "Peter Pan"; he was the "blind man" begging on the corner. He was the "officer" in the distance.

"I did so much atmospheric work," he declares, "that I began to feel like the great open spaces, a feeling that was materially assisted by an empty feeling about the middle."

For his services he received almost enough money to pay his room rent.

JACK MULHALL

In 1913 he received his first real part. It was in a picture called "Hard Cash."

The next year he played an important part in "The House of Discord," with Lionel Barrymore, Blanche Sweet and Antonio Moreno.

This picture put him at the top again. His success was the talk of the studios. Hollywood clamored for him.

He gathered his highest hopes together and set out for the West, building wonderful visions of big dramatic roles.

There he landed on the old checkered board again, and found himself at the bottom.

C RUEL Hollywood! It didn't see Jack as a dramatic sensation at all. It saw him as a great "gift" to slapstick comedy!

His handsome face was ideal for a pie target, they declared.

The old Biograph outfit reasoned, correctly enough, that a good-looking face, splashed with juicy blackberry pie, was much funnier than a face which looked funny without pie.

Pie was one of his favorite desserts. When the time came that the sight of pie made him squirm, he decided it was time to quit. He transferred his allegiance to Universal, where the bronchos played catch with him for many months. He learned to bulldoze steers, rope cows, break bronchos and tie knots. He spent two years making "Westerns" and "hare-brained serials."

He had one great day in 1917, when he received $100 for one week's work. He was one of the first motion picture players to receive a three-figure salary. It was considered stupendous.

The first move on a new and more promising checkered board was made in 1912, when Jack supported Norma Talmadge in "Within the Law."

He followed this with two pictures in support of Constance Talmadge, "The Goldfish" and "Dulcy."

After that, fortune smiled upon him steadily. He was given a five-year contract with a big company and was leading man in succession to Colleen Moore, Corinne Griffith, Billie Dove and many other stars.

The coming of the talkies was another boost for Jack.

The voice which got him his roadhouse singing job melted the mechanical heart of the microphone. He has made 14 pictures since the inception of the new entertainment art, a record surpassed by but one star.

Once more he is at the top. "It's a great life," says Jack. "But you never can tell. For all I know, I am still playing checkers with that temperamental old lady and the next move may find me clinging desperately to the bottom again."

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts. Edited by Dr. Lago Goldstein, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

Tonics.

IN medicine the word "tonic" is most commonly used to indicate tension, rigidity, or spasm. In common language, however, tonic is understood to mean "a something which has the power to invigorate, to build up or to brace."

While medicine knows many useful tonics, few if any of these are in the nature of drugs. The efficient medical tonics are rest and exercise, good food, fresh air, sea or sun bathing, and the like.

Medicinal tonics sometimes are used to help the body overcome abnormal conditions, but drug tonics often are liable to act like a whip applied to a tired horse. The immediate result may be accelerated movement, but in the long run, the overtaxed system is liable to break down.

Renewed vigor secured through so-called tonics, or stimulants, too often mortgage future health. And it is an unwise and unsafe practice to use stimulants, when what the body really needs is rest, a change of work, or a change of environment.

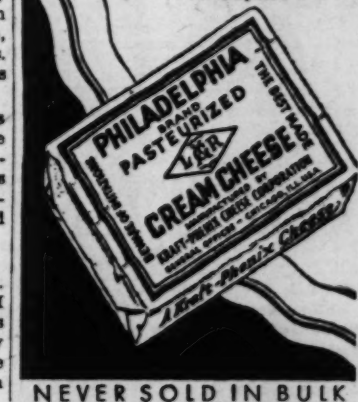

Perhaps the most important factor in the matter of tonics is the erroneous idea involved. One takes a tonic in a sort of blind faith that it has magical qualities to recreate vigor, and to give new strength, to vitalize, as many an advertisement runs, the worn body.

There is no place in science, medicine included, for such magic. There are no bottled or boxed substitutes for good food, exercise, fresh air, or rest.

In the physiology of the body, neither energy nor matter is created out of nothingness, or in larger amounts than is supplied by raw materials.

Jephth's Conviction.

(Copyright, 1930.)

THE LONG STRUGGLE BY WHICH JEPHTHA SIMMS HAD GAINED MASTERY OF WEALTH AND POWER HAD MADE HIM A HARD CYNICAL MAN BUT HE CHERISHED HIS DAUGHTER

BUT MY DEAR, I'VE LISTENED TO EVERY WORD YOU'VE SAID AND NO JURY IN THE LAND WOULD ACQUIT JONES OF KILLING BERT STEELE

OH YES, DI... FORGOT TO SAY I'D ASKED FITZ THORP TO TEA... WANT TO GET THIS JONES BUSINESS OFF YOUR MIND... MR. GEOFFREY LET'S SAY NO MORE ABOUT IT

The Nebbs—By Sol Hess

Romance.

(Copyright, 1930.)

OH, AMBY, EVER SINCE I WAS BIG ENOUGH TO THINK OF MARRIAGE, I'VE NEVER CARED FOR A BIG WEDDING.

CAN'T YOU JUST IMAGINE WHEN THIS TOWN WAKES UP AND FINDS THAT JULY APPLEBY HAS ELOPED? --WELL, LET THEM DO THEIR TALKING AFTER OUR MARRIAGE-- NOT BEFORE-- OH, I THINK ELOPING IS SO ROMANTIC!!

WELL, I'LL ELOPE BUT I AIN'T GOING TO LIFT YOU THROUGH NO WINDOW ON A LADDER-- YOU PUT THE BLANKET ON THE CANARY BIRD, LEAVE THE HIP OF A COW FOR YOUR PAPPY'S BREAKFAST AND I'LL MEET YOU AT HOWE AVENUE AND MAPLE STREET IN FRONT OF MAX'S HOUSE

THIS TIME GOES ON, THE KIDS ARE PLANNING THEIR ELOPEMENT... SENTIMENTAL JULY AND PRACTICAL AMBY-- WE WONDER JUST WHAT KIND OF MATCH THIS WILL MAKE?

HOW IT BEGAN

THIS EXPRESSION WAS GIVEN BY THE ROMANS TO THE SIX OR EIGHT WEEKS OF INTENSE SUMMER HEAT... THEY BELIEVED THAT SIRIUS, THE DOG STAR, RISING WITH THE SUN DURING THIS PERIOD, ADDED TO THE HEAT... HENCE THE NAME, DOG DAYS...

APEX—APEX ORIGINALLY MEANT THE WOOLEN TASSEL SUPPLEMENTED FROM THE TOP OF THE RUNNY LOOKING CAPS WORN YEARS AGO. IN TIME IT CAME TO BE APPLIED TO THE SUMMIT OR TOP OF ANYTHING.
